MUSK CITES WHISTLEBLOWER AS NEW REASON TO NIX TWITTER DEAL

Tesla CEO Elon Musk said in an SEC filing on Tuesday that he has additional reasons to rescind the offer to buy out Twitter

SECURITY CHIEF WHO FLAGGED PROBLEMS FIRED

The billionaire cited a whistle blower complaint filed by Twitter's former head of security Peiter Zatko about the firm's negligence in rooting out fake accounts that spread disinformation. Twitter later fired Zatko for "poor performance". Musk has now served Zatko with a subpoena asking him to share any documents or messages on Twitter's fake accounts

BILLIONAIRE'S MOVE INVALID, SAYS TWITTER

- In his letter to Twitter, Musk said Zatko's allegations provide extra reasons to end the deal, in case his termination notice given in July is "determined to be invalid for any reason"
- Twitter said Musk's attempt to back out of the deal based on statements made by a third party is 'invalid and wrongful'

Anganwadi teacher burns 3-yr-old boy's private parts

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Tumakuru

IN a disgusting incident, an anganwadi assistant teacher allegedly burnt the private parts of a three-year-old boy after being irritated with the child frequently wetting his pants. The 28-year-old assistant teacher Rashmi reportedly used lit matchsticks to burn the child's private parts.

The incident, which occurred a week ago at an anganwadi centre at Godekere village in Chikkanayakanahalli taluk in Tumkur district, came to light only on Monday when the child's grandmother was bathing him. She noticed burn wounds on the child's genitals and on the right lap.

The family brought it to the notice of officials concerned through whom the information reached the District Child Protection Officer Pavithra on Monday. A child counsellor was sent to the victim's house to counsel the child and the family.

After treatment at the local public health centre, the child, who incidentally hails from the Dalit 'Korama' community, is recuperating.

Had lost mother recently

The child had lost his mother just 15 days ago after battling fourth stage cervical cancer, and was being looked after by his father and his grandmother. The victim has an elder sibling who studies in class 6.

The child's parents had been working at a coffee estate in Chikmagalur for years, and moved to Godekere only after the death of his mother.

The child used to frequently wet his pants, which is quite normal among young children, especially among those traumatised by the loss of a parent when so young.

India likely to rush aid to flood-hit Pak

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WITH Pakistan reeling under unprecedented floods that have submerged one-third of the country and claimed at least 1,100 lives, India is considering sending aid to the neighbouring country on humanitarian grounds, sources said.

"India has always extended humanitarian aid to countries in need," point out an official, adding that a decision on assistance to Pakistan will be taken in a day or two.

On Tuesday, the Lahore Chamber of Commerce sought permission from the Pakistan government to import vegetables from India. The floods have destroyed crops on thousands of acres. The development comes a day after Prime Minister Narendra Modi tweeted that he was "saddened" to see the devastation in Pakistan and Pak Finance Minister Miftah Ismail said Islamabad was considering importing vegetables from India to deal with high prices and shortage.

If the BJP government decides to extend humanitarian aid to Pakistan, it will be the first time since 2014 that India will be doing so. India had sent aid to Pakistan during the 2010 floods and before that for the 2005 earthquake. Congress-led UPA government was in power on both the occasions. P12

Statements of victims recorded in C'durga court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga

TWO minor girls, victims in POCSO case registered against Murugha Mutt seer Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, recorded their statements before the First Additional District and Sessions in Chitradurga on Tuesday. The two were taken to the court from Government Bala Mandir at 2.30 pm under tight security with Child Welfare Committee officials and Odanadi members also accompanying them.

A large number of people assembled at the court and police resorted to a mild lathi-charge to disperse the crowd.

Chitradurga MLA G H Thippareddy who interacted with the media after visiting the seer in the morning said, "Swamiji told me that he is pained by the developments and that he will cooperate with the probe. He also alleged that it was a big conspiracy hatched against him".

Thippareddy further said, "The victims and the pontiff are from my constituency and I would like to meet the girls too if permissible under law".

In the wake of Monday's incident when the pontiff was not found for some time, police have deployed more security personnel at the exit and entry points of the mutt. District Armed Reserve (DAR) personnel have also been deployed. All vehicles entering and moving out of the mutt are being checked by the police. Security at Government Home for Girls has also been beefed up.

Meanwhile, the district police on Tuesday invoked The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (Act) against the accused as one of the victims belongs to the SC community.

SC ORDERS STATUS QUO, NO GANESHA FEST AT IDGAH MAIDAN

Quashes K'taka HC verdict which allowed the celebration at the ground in Bengaluru

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday disallowed the use of a contentious Idgah Maidan in Bengaluru's Chamarajpet for this year's Ganesha Chaturthi festival. After almost one-and-a-half hours of hearing, a bench of justices Indira Banerjee, A S Oka and M M Sundresh asked both the parties — Karnataka State Board of Auqaf, Central Muslim Association of Karnataka and the state of Karnataka — to maintain status quo.

"Maintain status quo for some days. You can hold your pooja somewhere else," Justice Indira Banerjee, the presiding judge of the bench said. "200 years, whatever was not held, so maintain the status quo. 200 years it has not been done. No Ganesha festival on this land," Justice Oka added.

Earlier in the day, a two-judge bench of justices Hemant Gupta and Sudhanshu Dhulia was divided on the matter and sent it to Chief Justice of India U U Lalit. The three-judge bench was constituted after senior advocate Dushyant Dave made an urgent mention before the CJI, saying if the matter is not heard on Tueday, status quo of 200 years will be disturbed.

The court's order was passed on petition challenging Karnataka High Court's verdict allowing the use the Idgah Maidan for Ganesha Chaturthi. The petitioners argued that it was a burial ground till 1877 after which it served as Idgah for the local Muslim population.

Appearing for the state of Karnataka, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta argued that the Maidan it was always government land in revenue records. Mehta urged the bench to permit a government-managed temple to conduct Ganesha festival on August 30 and 31.

Rift wide open in J'khand, Soren sends Rahul SOS

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

AS many as 32 MLAs of the ruling alliance in Jharkhand left for Raipur on Tuesday amid growing differences between the partners — JMM and Congress — over how to tide over the crisis following reports that the Election Commission has decided to disqualify Chief Minister Hemant Soren for holding an office of profit.

This correspondent was the first to break the news on Monday night that they will be shifted to Raipur the next day.

The decision on Raipur was taken after two days of tussle between the two parties. Soren wanted to send them to Kolkata. But Congress forced him to send them to Chhattisgarh, a state ruled by the party. Soren had argued that since Kolkata was closer to his constituency Dumka, it would be easier for him to look after the MLAs.

Jharkhand CM Hemant Soren with UPA MLAs at the Ranchi airport on Tuesday.

BJP TRIES TO FISH IN TROUBLED WATERS

Hoping to exploit the growing schism, the BJP claimed the chief minister would be ousted and asked the ruling alliance MLAs to support a BJP-led government

Soren shares excellent rapport with his West Bengal counterpart Mamata Banerjee, whom he had reportedly sounded out about his plan to move the MLAs to her state. But the Congress flatly refused to allow Mamata to have any role in the matter. It told Soren that MLAs have to be taken either to Raipur or to Jaipur.

Differences have also emerged over Soren's plan to stay in Ranchi along with the ministers, including four belonging to the Congress, so that the government continues to function smoothly. The Congress is opposed to the idea. An exasperated CM has complained to Rahul Gandhi about the problems faced by him, especially about the role of Congress general secretary incharge of Jharkhand Avinash Pande. Pande's statements and actions have brought the difference between the two parties into the public domain.

Pande has had a chequered history as an AICC manager. He was AICC general secretary in-charge of Rajasthan when Sachin Pilot walked out with 22 MLAs. When Pilot returned to Jaipur after his failed coup, one of his conditions was the removal of Pande as state incharge, as the latter had aligned completely with Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot. Pande was then dropped as party general secretary.

You're 'intoxicated' by power: Anna to Kejri

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A day before the operation of Delhi's scam-tainted new liquor policy is buried for good, Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal got stinker from his former guru Anna Hazare, who alleged his chela was "intoxicated by power".

"Like liquor, power intoxicates. You are intoxicated by power, it seems," he wrote to Kejriwal, lighting into him for his government's excise policy that is mired in corruption. Hazare recalled that that in Kejriwal's book Swaraj, he had said no liquor shops should be opened without the approval of locals. "You have forgotten those ideals after becoming CM," he rued.

"In Delhi, liquor shops were being opened in every corner of the city... People seem to be trapped in a circle of money for power and power for money. It doesn't suit a party that emerged from a major movement," he chided.

For his part, Kejriwal blamed the letter on the BJP, saying it was using Hazare to target his government since the CBI found nothing in its probe against Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia.

Chastising Kejriwal, Hazare said that "in every ward, he (Kejriwal) opened a liquor shop and age limit (was) reduced to 21 from 25 years. He's promoting liquor. When I was protesting, he used to call me his guru. Where are those emotions now?" In a related development, the CBI searched Sisodia's locker at a PNB branch at Ghaziabad. He later claimed the the probe agency gave him a "clean chit". "Only my wife's jewellery worth ₹70,000-80,000 was in the locker," he said.

Star, Zee in marriage of convenience

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

THREE days after acquiring Indian broadcast rights for the upcoming International Cricket Council (ICC) cycle of events for around $3.125 billion, Disney Star Tuesday sub-licensed a part of its deal to rival Zee Entertainment Enterprises. In a highly competitive market, such deals are unheard of in Indian television industry, particularly among sports networks.

The agreement between the two networks has caught the industry by surprise. For starters, both the networks had placed separate bids in Dubai last week, and Disney Star eventually secured the rights for the 2024-27 period in a deal worth around $3.125 billion (₹25,000 crore), which was significantly higher than the rest. Star is currently paying only $1.9 bn for the current eight-year cycle that ends in 2023. Interestingly, the ICC had allowed a provision where the winner had the rights to sub-license.

While the numbers did raise eye-brows, it also showed how Disney Star was desperate to hold on to the ICC rights. After losing out on IPL digital rights to Viacom18, Disney Star's OTT platform Hotstar is without a popular cricket content, which is why it went big for ICC rights. Having secured the digital rights — a market with huge growth potential — and by giving away the TV rights to its rival Zee, Disney Star would now be able to get back part of its huge investment. As per the agreement, Zee will televise all the ICC men's events. What role Sony Pictures Network — which has already announced a merger with Zee — plays remains to be seen.

According to market analysts, the deal seems pre-arranged as such an agreement can't be reached in a short span of time.

As far as Zee is concerned, it is a new beginning for them as after years of legal battles — they were blacklisted by the BCCI and ICC for launching the now defunct Indian Cricket League — they have finally landed live cricket for their television.

Bengaluru's skies puzzle even weathermen

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU wears many caps — of being known as the tech capital of the country, a startup hub and most of all for its salubrious climate. But now, it has become a unique place of study for weathermen.

India Meteorological Department (IMD) officials from across India are keen to assess and study Bengaluru's climate, the temperature variations, the rainfall pattern, the changes and the topography. This is because while one part of Bengaluru records 15 cm rainfall, another part of the city, like the CBD records zero rainfall.

"Due to the unique weather variations, Bengaluru is drawing weathermen from across the country to study it. There is not just rainfall difference in short distance locations of the city, but also temperature variations. This kind of changes are usually observed in hill stations, but since Bengaluru is not, it is different and is catching everyone's attention," a senior IMD official told TNIE.

The official pointed out that similar patterns are also being observed in Kodagu, where in if Bagamanadala records 21 cm rainfall, in Virajpet it is 3 cm. Such drastic difference is being reported in Bengaluru too, but not in Pune or other places similar to Bengaluru otherwise.

Immediate and drastic weather patterns are being closely recorded for tabulation by the IMD and Karnataka State Disaster Management Authority (KSNDMC) observatories. P2

DOWNPOUR AT MIDNIGHT LEAVES DISASTER TRAIL

Residents of Mahadevapura use boats, tractors; BBMP blames encroachments on SWDs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE heavy downpour through Monday night left a trail of misery in the low-lying parts of Bengaluru, leading to storm water drains and lakes swelling up with rainwater, and flooding across Mahadevapura zone.

The worst had come true again for apartments and villas of IT City in this region. Villas of Rainbow Drive Layout were flooded for the second time in less than four months. Fire and Emergency personnel ferried residents to safety on tractors and boats.

Anugraha Layout was also flooded, with about 50 sheds of pourakarmikas being worst-hit in Mahadevapura. The rain also led to a traffic gridlock along the ORR.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath told TNIE that the problem has been inherited since the time of the City Municipal Corporation (CMC), with storm water drains in many areas here being encroached.

"The flooding of Marathahalli Outer Ring Road, near EcoSpace in Bellandur, was a result of encroachment of a major storm water drain. They have now realised and agreed to release some land, and requested the Palike to build a water diversion channel. We will have to put boxes and connect the drains," said Girinath.

Special Commissioner, Mahadevapura zone, Dr Trilok Chandra said that after Rainbow Drive villas were flooded on May 17, the Bengaluru East Tahsildar issued notices to encroachers and held a hearing recently. BBMP deployed officials to ensure the water was pumped out. "We also held a meeting with ORRCA and raised the issue of land encroachment in the EcoSpace area. Now after flooding, the authorities have sought BBMP's help and agreed to release part of the land to make way for a water channel," he said.

Bengaluru East Tahsildar Ajith Kumar said that after noticing the encroachment at Rainbow Drive, notices were sent and 13 owners whose properties block major areas of the culvert came for the hearing.

The rain also inundated sheds of pourakarmikas in Doddanekundi and Munnekolalu. "About 100 sheds were flooded at Doddanekundi area. Last time, the same thing happened and officials had promises proper homes to BBMP pourakarmikas, but there was no progress," said Shanmugam, leader of the pourakarmikas.

RELEASE OF STORED RAINWATER CAUSE FLOODING, SAYS BWSSB
Bengaluru: The Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has appealed people to stop discharging water saved through rain water harvesting methods into the sewage network. This resulted in overflowing of drains and flooding of manholes, causing flooding of roads, it said. In an official release, BWSSB has appealed people to ensure that the stored water is released only into stormwater drains.

"SYSTEMS formation and seasonal changes decide temperature and rainfall in many cities. But in Bengaluru's case, the rainfall and temperatures are also decided by the temperatures, rainfall and impacts which its neighbouring cities like Chennai are experiencing. But the local systems formation and changing temperatures also decide rainfall and temperature in Bengaluru. The local topography plays a crucial role in deciding how temperature for the days ahead will be. So while issuing forecasts, we mention Bengaluru temperatures separately and mention it as Bengaluru and its neighbourhood. This is because of the uniqueness of the city," official said.

Ganeshas with chemical colours still a big hit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DESPITE the State Government's initiatives to promote eco-friendly Ganesha idols, the demand for chemically-painted idols refuses to die down because they are more attractive.

As a result, some of the vendors too are buying chemically- painted idols from factories to cater to the demand. They also quote a high price for the idols citing transportation cost.

"Parents who come with their children always opt for the coloured ones regardless of the price because it is attractive and the kids get excited. The elders, however, prefer clay idols," said Chandu who owns a stall with a wide assortment of metallic painted and clay idols in Ganganagar.

Clay made idols are handmade by vendors themselves. It takes about two hours to make a large idol and an hour for a small one and around three-four days to sell one batch, added another vendor.

"We are buying an idol after a long time. We wanted to buy an eco-friendly one initially... but we really liked the big one with bright colours on it and it fits our budget," said Mahesh, a customer.

Only a few people try to look for eco-friendly idols as they are environmentally aware but they try to bargain which eventually puts the vendors at a loss as the manufacturing cost doesn't get covered in it. So to make it more attractive, a few vendors highlight the features of the chemical-free clay idol by using gold metallic paint on it and the sustainability aspect of the idol is lost in the process, said an idol maker.

NIGHTMARE IN WHITEFIELD AS ROADS GO UNDER WATER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IT was a nightmare for commuters as main roads in and around Whitefield, especially around Eco Space, were flooded due to water logging on Tuesday morning. Many vehicles were stranded in traffic for over four hours on the Outer Ring Road.

Water logging was reported on Marathahalli Road, Bellandur, Varthur Main Road and HSR Layout among others. The situation was so bad that in some places, even traffic police officials had to clear rainwater to make sure traffic flows smoothly.

Residents complained that no pumps were deployed by the city corporation to clear the stagnant water on the roads because of which vehicle movement in many low lying areas came to a standstill. Ironically, the areas where flooding happened were those where the BBMP claimed to have desilted the drains.

Commuters vented their anger on social media, sharing video footage on the slow moving traffic.

Lokesh BM, a resident of Marathahalli said, "I was driving my car to Manyata Tech Park, and it took almost an hour to drive 5 km. My car engine turned off when water reached it. I left home at around 8 am and managed to reach my office at 11 am."

Giriraj M K, a biker, was stuck between cars and buses in the slow moving traffic. "I had no option to escape the flooded roads. I noticed a couple of bikers fall as they tried to ride on the footpath," he said.

Prasanna, resident of Marathahalli, took two-and-a-half hours to cover a distance of 5 km. "That's Bengaluru for you after rains! A city which is India's IT hub deserves better infrastructure and better policies. Metro work coupled with white topping has made life hell along the city's outer ring road for commuters on a daily basis and the rain only makes matters worse."

31st August: So now we know - there are up to seven or eight hundred million Earth-like planets in our galaxy, the Milky Way. That means there are millions of millions in the universe as a whole. The chances are that at least one of them contains somebody just like you - perhaps even with your name! It's a shame you'll never meet!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Concentrate on home, family and domestic affairs while the Moon swings through enthusiastic regions of your chart. This is an indication that you will soon be back in favour and therefore able to swing any changes you want, just as long as you paint a sufficiently positive picture.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Bide your time now and for the next forty-eight hours. You have so much going for you that the last thing you should do is blow it all by revealing someone's secrets or, worst of all, being taken in by gossip. Actually, you could be happiest if you're left alone to do your own thing.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You are extremely fortunate that you are having a second chance. Basically, you have until the end of this week to reconsider your position and until the middle of next week to do something about it. But both next month and the month after bring a couple of complete U turns - so nothing is written in stone.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You have worked too hard, and waited far too long, to be denied your full reward. Can I entreat you to use every bit of your ambitious, courageous character to take a vital step up the Cancerian career ladder - and to lick the opposition at home?

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
I am quite sure that, in a matter of days, you will be presented with the opportunity to put your own house in order by making whatever improvements you desire. Yesterday's delicate planetary patterns combine with today's more sensitive indications to strengthen your mysterious 'sixth sense'.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You must either make some sort of commitment or lose the support and affection of someone who could one day exert a massively beneficial influence on your life, security and happiness. If you are therefore to break a promise, you must do so only after full consultation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Time and time again, your horoscope comes back to work and professional ambitions, but not for much longer. However, the final curtain call may not be taken for another three weeks, so stay alert until then. In the meantime, try to have more pleasure - whatever you're doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
An essential component of your current chart points to the fact that the only truth is spiritual, with a capital T. What you may now achieve is an opportunity to make those who have tried to pull the wool over your eyes realise that you cannot be changed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Even the prospect of a major upheaval on the personal front should not upset you too much. You're lucky that the general planetary situation is swinging heavily towards relaxation after a period of relatively high tension. You'll have more time to put your feet up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Today's lunar alignments bring positive personal indications for Aquarians, and I would expect you to turn even unpromising conditions to your advantage. Family life could also be fairly relaxed, at least for some of the time. Plus, you can get your own way more often than not.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
At all times, and in all situations, you must try to keep your emotions in check and do your best to ensure that new acquaintances and professional associates can really provide you with the assurances they offer. You can also turn on the charm if it helps.

BMTC driver ends life, blames depot manager

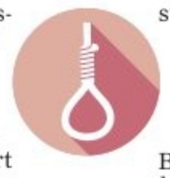
Suicide note claims harassment, deceased's wife files complaint

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CITING harassment by the depot manager, a 48-year-old BMTC driver took his own life in RR Nagar police station limits on Monday. The victim has left behind a suicide note, naming the suspect.

The victim has been identified as Holabasappa Chinchanakandi, a resident of Srinivasapura Cross in RR Nagar, who has blamed Mallikarjunaiah, the manager of the BMTC's 21st depot in RR Nagar, for abetting his suicide. A complaint was filed by the victim's wife, Seema, on Monday.

"Refusal to grant leave is also being mentioned as a reason for the suicide. The victim left home for work on Monday morning. At 12.30 pm, Seema got a call from her husband's colleagues about his suicide. The victim had hanged himself behind the diesel tank at the depot. We found the death note in his shirt pocket," said an officer.



Meanwhile, family members, including a physically-challenged daughter of the victim, protested outside the depot on Tuesday, by keeping Holabasappa's body and demanded that Mallikarjunaiah be arrested. The family also demanded that the Transport Minister and other BMTC officials visit the spot.

A case of abetment of suicide under Section 306 of the IPC has been registered against the depot manager.

"The incident has come to the notice of BMTC officials. It is too early to tell if harassment was the reason for the driver to end his life. Along with the police investigations, even BMTC is conducting an inquiry," said sources in the BMTC.

Man falls prey to loan app fraud

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

THINK twice before availing loans through clandestine apps. Desperate for quick loans, a person could blindly click on links to such apps, and open their electronic gadgets to hackers, who clone the victim's mobile phones and computers and misuse data and personal details.

A private firm employee, who availed loans through multiple such apps, is now being mentally harassed by some unknown suspects, who have made him pay more than what he reportedly owes them. The accused are also sending obscene pictures to the victim and his family, while lewd messages are being shared with the contacts on the victim's phone. The victim has approached the CEN police on the matter.

The complainant has been identified as M Chandan Kumar, a resident of Beerayanapalya near Kodihalli. He is said to have taken loans to the tune of Rs 3.57 lakh through almost 10 apps, starting March 10 up to August 22. "He claims to have cleared the entire loan amount and even paid up an excess of Rs 4.36 lakh. In total, he claims to have paid Rs 7.93 lakh. Yet, the suspects are allegedly blackmailing the complainant, his wife and relatives, asking for more money. The accused are even sending obscene pictures and texts to the friends and relatives of the victims, whose contacts are on their devices," said an officer.

The police are now checking if the harassment is only from a few apps or all of them. The victim has also shared his bank details with the police to prove his claims. Explaining how a hacker can access an individual's personal details, a CEN officer said, "After gaining access into a device, the accused scans the social media profiles of their victims. Most social media users use password managers to store their passwords, which can be accessed by the accused to enter social media accounts," he added.

CCB NABS BOOKIE, SEIZES ₹ 1.5L CASH

The Central Crime Branch (CCB) on Monday arrested a bookie for cricket betting and seized Rs 1.5 lakh in cash. The accused had collected money over the India vs Pakistan Asia Cup match that was played on Sunday. Following a tipoff, a team raided a house and detained the accused. He revealed that he had collected money from punters and contacted them over phone to run the cricket betting ring.

IISc researchers develop Covid doppelganger

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Indian Institute of Science (IISc) has developed and tested a novel virus-like particle (VLP) – a non-infectious nanoscale molecule that resembles and behaves like the virus but does not contain its native genetic material – in a study published in Microbiology Spectrum.

When the pandemic hit, IISc professor Soma Das and his team began working on a VLP for SARS-CoV-2. They artificially synthesised a VLP with all four structural proteins – spike, envelope, membrane and nucleocapsid. "The main challenge was to express all four structural proteins together," said Harsha Raheja, PhD student at MCB.

Such VLPs have several uses and can also potentially be developed into a vaccine candidate that can trigger an immune response in our bodies, Das said, adding that they can also be used to reduce the time taken to screen drugs that can fight the virus.

When the team injected a high dose of VLPs into mice in the lab, it did not affect the liver, lung, or kidney tissues.

The main challenge was to express all four structural proteins together

Harsha Raheja, PhD student at Microbiology Spectrum

Testing immune response

To test its immune response, they gave one primary shot and two booster shots to mice models with a gap of 15 days, after which they found a large number of antibodies generated in the blood serum of the mice. These antibodies were also capable of neutralising the live virus, the team found. "This means that they are protecting the animals," explained Raheja.

The researchers have applied for a patent for their VLP and hope to develop it into a vaccine candidate. They also plan to study the effect of the VLP on other animal models (using the expertise of SG Ramachandra, one of the inventors), and eventually humans. Raheja said they have also developed VLPs that might be able to offer protection against the more recent variants, like Omicron and other sub-lineages.

KMF seeks hike in milk price, CM in dilemma

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) has appealed to the State government to increase the price of milk by Rs 3 per litre. With this, the price of milk products, including ghee, butter, curd and buttermilk, is also expected to increase.

The demand is not new, with KMF making repeated pleas for an increase in rates. In Karnataka, there are over 27 lakh dairy farmers who supply milk to over 14,300 milk cooperative societies. Every day, they supply over 88 lakh litres of milk, which are also sent to neighbouring states.

A senior official told TNIE that they had given a memorandum to CM Basavaraj Bommai a few weeks ago. "We met him along with KMF Chairman Balachandra Jarkiholi again two days ago, and the CM has responded positively. We are expecting him to approve the revised slab soon," he said. At present, Nandini milk (pasteurised) is Rs 38 per litre, and is likely to be hiked to Rs 41 per litre.

According to officials, there is pressure from various milk federations to increase the price of milk. In Karnataka, there are 14 unions demanding a price hike. "Milk in Karnataka is cheaper compared to other states, including milk supplied by Anand Milk Union Limited (AMUL), the Gujarat government's cooperative society. If we compare our prices with those of other states, there is a difference of up to Rs 10 per litre. The hike the Federation is demanding will go to farmers," the official said.

However, Bommai seems to be caught between the devil and the deep sea. "Farmers are demanding an increase in price, which is expected to help the 27 lakh families of dairy farmers. The CM is hesitant as the BBMP polls are expected to be announced. The price rise might affect votes as Nandini milk from KMF is supplied across Bengaluru. That is why he is taking time, but will approve an increase of at least Rs 2 per litre," the official said. Balachandra Jarkiholi was not available for comment.

HC: Won't interfere with HDMC nod for Ganesha idol at Hubballi Idgah

Land belongs to Hubballi-Dharwad civic body, no dispute over title like Chamarajpet ground

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court declined to interfere with the permission granted by the Commissioner of Hubballi-Dharwad Municipal Corporation (HDMC) to a Hindu organisation to install Ganesha idol at Idgah Maidan in Hubballi.

Justice Ashok S Kinagi passed the interim order late Tuesday night after hearing arguments on the petition filed by Anjuman-e-Islam, represented by its president Mohammed Yousuf Chammsab Savanur from Hubballi, challenging the permission granted to install a Ganesha idol at Idgah Maidan, based on the suggestion by the panel constituted by HDMC.

Recording the submissions of the petitioner's counsel and State government, the court rejected the interim prayer by the petitioner to stay permission granted by the HDMC Commissioner for Ganesha festival celebrations at Idgah Maidan.

Passing the interim order on Tuesday evening, granting liberty to the HDMC Commissioner to exercise power under Section 176 of the Karnataka Municipal Corporations Act to consider and pass orders on applications submitted, seeking permission for installation of Ganesha idol at Idgah Maidan, in accordance with law, the court also granted liberty to the petitioner to mention before court any order passed by the Supreme Court hearing the Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan case.

A special leave petition was filed by Karnataka State Board for Waqf against the order of a Karnataka HC division bench, which permitted the Deputy Commissioner to consider applications seeking permission to install Ganesha idol at Idgah Maidan at Chamarajpet, and pass an appropriate order.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court on Tuesday evening passed the order that both parties -- Waqf Board and State government -- should maintain status quo on use of Idgah Maidan at Chamarajpet. Hence, the DC cannot permit installation of Ganesha idol there.

In view of this, counsel for the petitioner Anjuman-e-Islam mentioned the matter before Justice Kinagi and requested extension of the benefit given by Supreme Court to Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan to the Hubballi Idgah Maidan too. He also submitted that conversion of a place of worship is not permitted in law, and hence, permission granted by the Commissioner is unlawful.

In its counter, Additional Advocate General Dhyan Chinnappa argued that there cannot be any dispute about the title of Idgah Maidan in Hubballi, as it is already decided that it exclusively belongs to HDMC, so the principle applied in the title dispute of Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan cannot be applied to the Hubballi case.

He also brought to the notice of the court that HDMC had passed the order on Tuesday evening, permitting an organisation to instal Ganesha idol at Idgah Maidan for two days.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar visits flood-hit areas in Ramanagara | EXPRESS

Award engineers: DKS on expressway flooding

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after heavy rains flooded the Bengaluru-Mysuru highway, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar on Monday said that the engineers who planned and are executing the project must be given prestigious awards.

"I will urge the CM to give an award to the engineers. While developing highways, one must have the common sense to build them at an elevation. The highway has now become a lake," Shivakumar thundered. He also took Bommai to task for not releasing compensation to those affected by floods in Ramanagara during his visit to the marooned district.

Meanwhile, JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy took a dig at Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha for calling the expressway as one of the best. "If he (Simha) had visited Sangabasappana Doddi on Monday he could have enjoyed a swim. In the past, he had posed for pictures as if he was responsible for implementing the expressway project," he charged.

Simha, while indirectly referring to encroachment of lakes and canals across Ramanagara district, said both Kumaraswamy and Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh should take steps to first clear them. "They should get a joint survey done of all the lakes and canals in Ramanagara district through the district administration, revenue and minor irrigation department and clear the encroachments. Then, show me wherever the highway is obstructed and leave it to me to fix it," he tweeted.

BJP MLC demands seer's resignation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

AMID the political wrangling over Muruga mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru being booked under the Pocso Act, former minister and BJP MLC AH Vishwanath has urged the seer to step down, adding that he should assume his charge again once he is cleared in the investigation.

He said that this would improve the image of the seer under scanner and also that of his devotees.

Vishwanath told media persons that the government should immediately arrest the seer, adding that anyone under probe in Pocso charges should be nabbed within 24 hours. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Home Minister Araga Jnanendra should refrain from making statements regarding this issue, he said.

He questioned those who raised slogans supporting seer, asking if they are in favour of those who make mistakes. The recent developments have hurt people's sentiments that have tarnished the image of the state, he said, and demanded that the innocent girls should get justice.

He also pointed out that former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy, Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, and another former CM BS Yediyurappa are silent on the issue, and added that people will never forgive the lapses in the case.

"I will write a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi incorporating the details of the case," he added.

He said that failure to ensure justice would have its terrible implications in the 2023 election, and criticised vote bank politics that have compelled many to stay silent.

Other seers come out in support

CHITRADURGA: Mummadi Shivarudra Swamiji of Marulagavi Mutt Kanakapura on Tuesday said that the seer of the mutt Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru will come out clean since it is a conspiracy. He told media persons that the seer has spread the issues pertaining to rationalism among the society, and his detractors have hatched a conspiracy. The truth will come out after investigation, he added. There is a massive support base for the seer, he said. Appointing an administrator is a prerogative of the pontiff, he said. Since the incident is still under investigation, it is inappropriate to comment on the issue, said the swamiji. Immadi Siddarameshwara Swamy, Dr Shanthaveera Swamy of Kunchitiga gurupeet, Basavakumara Swamy of Ganiga gurupeet, Basavaprabhu Swamy of Davangere, Shivabasava Swamy of Ulavi branch mutt, Mahantharudra Swamy of Hebbala Mutt and more than 20 other mutt heads were present during the presser. Basavamurthy Madara Channaiah Swamy of Madara Channaiah gurupeet said refused on comment on the issue but threw his weight behind the seer. "We are the devotees of Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru and the mutt has a rich heritage. As the Pocso case is under investigation, it is a sub-judice matter. On the issue of conspiracy we cannot give statements like politicians," he said.

Seer getting undue privilege: Dalit forums

ENS @ Chitradurga

MEMBERS of various Dalit organisations on Tuesday staged a protest in front of DC's office in the city and demanded that the seer of Murugha Mutt Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, who is facing Pocso charges, be arrested immediately. The protesters alleged that the seer is being given undue privilege by the police and district administration, who are delaying his arrest, which might give him an opportunity to influence the witnesses and victims. Meanwhile, a group of people held a banner which read 'Beti Bachao Beti Padhao', and staged a protest in the city, demanding action against the seer.

'Unravel conspiracy'

DISHA committee member and advocate KH Venkatesh alleged that there is a conspiracy to put the seer in a tight spot using the Pocso case. He told media persons that the issue has cropped up because of the wrong intention of former MLA SK Basavarajan and his wife Soubhagya. He also urged the government to retrieve the call records of former MLA SK Basavarajan, his wife Soubhagya, Stanley and Parashuram of Odanadi Mysuru.

DSS demands SIT probe

Members of Dalit Sangarsha Samithi Okkuta demanded that a special investigation (SIT) be formed to probe into the Pocso charges against Murugha mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru, fearing that the investigation might be compromises since he is a prominent person. State convenor of the Okkuta Guruprasad Keragodu said, "We demand a high-level probe by SIT comprising a former judge, efficient officers and members of any organisation," adding that before any investigation, there is medial trail to build narratives in favour of the seer, which could take the investigation in the wrong direction.

"There is a delay in arresting a person who is facing Pocso charges. Many organisations, and a few of them calling themselves fans and followers, have started sharing their opinions which would impact the investigation," he said. Mavalli Shankar, state convener, demanded proper security for the victims and said that they should be shifted to any safer place in other districts and give them proper security.

Taps run dry in Koppal, GP members launch dharna

GP members stage a dharna in front of Siddapura GP office | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Koppal

IN Siddapura village of Koppal district, Gram Panchayat members, whose are responsible for providing basic amenities to residents, are staging a dharna demanding drinking water supply. "We are forced to protest against the Gram Panchayat staffers and panchayat development officer as villagers are putting pressure on us over intermittent supply of drinking water over the past many months," said a GP member.

"Despite repeated pleas to the GP president and staffers, no steps were taken. The personnel concerned were partial while selecting ward to supply drinking water. The district is receiving copious rain but the GP authorities have failed to ensure drinking water supply," said Chennabasavanagouda, another member. The root of the problem is that drinking water supply has been entrusted to private contractors, said members, and therefore, their payments must be stopped.

However, GP president Shweta Devaraj promised the agitating members and residents that the problem will be resolved, and the members called off their dharna.

No under-18 girls were raped in state, shows NCRB data

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

THERE are no incidents of rape of girls below 18 years of age in Karnataka, the recently released 'Crime In India - 2021' report by National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) states. Neither are there any cases of minor girls being raped in the NCRB report for 2020.

However, activists and government officials disagree, calling this highly improbable, incorrect and wrongly reported. Many cases occur on a day-to-day basis but officers refuse to file cases, with the rate of conviction really low, said Gowri, who works with the NGO Mahila Munnade, Karnataka. She called the NCRB report "untrue and extremely disappointing". She said the reason behind zero per cent rapes in the report could be because the state wants to keep up the show of a good reputation.The NCRB report 2020 also showcased zero per cent incidence of rape cases for girls below 17 years of age. An official from Integrated Child Development Services (ICDS), Karnataka, did not agree with zero incidence of rapes, adding that it was impossible even at the gram panchayat level not to report such cases. She blamed the police and officials for under-reporting of rape cases. The state again saw a rise in cases when the Covid-19 began to wane, with 14,468 cases of crime against women. Deputy Commissioner of Police Sharanappa SD attributed low number of crimes in 2020 to Covid, and said the rise in number of cases was good, as it meant more people came forward and reported crimes.

Akkai Padmashali, an activist from Karnataka Janashakthi, said women were in distress during the pandemic as they had nowhere to go, and the cases reported only fell through due to it. She said "there is an extreme amount of violence happening, and women are being swayed by the so-called right-wing ruling government".

ICDS official said most officials lack social responsibility, and even if cases of child marriage or other such crimes occurred, they were not reported due to this factor, and the complainants were often sent away, stating that they did not fall under their jurisdiction.

TS to fight Centre's order on power dues legally

HYDERABAD: Telangana government is mulling legal options against the Union Government's directive to the state to pay power dues of `6,756.92 crore to Andhra Pradesh. Describing the Centre's order as 'politically motivated' and 'absurd', Telangana Energy Minister G Jagadish Reddy on Tuesday told reporters in Suryapet that the government would fight legally against the directive. Reddy alleged that the Center has conspired against Telangana's power sector and was trying to push the state towards power cuts and darkness. "Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao gave suggestions to the Centre on how to give free power to all consumers in the country, which it was unable to digest," Reddy said. "The fact is that Telangana is due `12,941 crore from AP Genco, but the Centre is not taking this into account," he said. ENS

KCR calls for LP meet, sparks early poll murmurs

HYDERABAD: Telangana CM K Chandrasekhar Rao has decided to convene the TRS Legislature Party meeting on September 3, immediately after the Cabinet meeting on the same day. Rao's decision has sparked speculation that he may make big announcements on the day, including one on a possible early Assembly polls. It is worth mentioning here that Rao, banking on "September sentiment", took some key decisions in the past. For instance, in 2006, he resigned as an MP in September, after TRS parted ways with the then UPA government. He also convened the Cabinet meeting on September 6, 2018 and dissolved the State Legislative Assembly, paving the way for early polls. However, it is not clear why Rao has decided to convene the two meetings this Saturday. ENS

STOP HUMAN RESOURCE DRAIN DUE TO ROAD DEATHS

On April 25, nine persons, including four women and two children, died when a tempo they were travelling in on NH-48 near Tumkur, 70 km from Bengaluru, crashed into a truck while overtaking another vehicle. Apart from the 13 injured, these nine are now part of the statistics on road deaths and injuries maintained by the Ministry of Road Transport & Highways (MoRTH).

Unfortunately, such accidents are not far and in between. The National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) reveals the deaths per thousand vehicles in 2021 increased from 0.45% in 2020 to 0.53% in 2021. While this appears to be a teeny-weeny fraction, in absolute numbers, it translates to 1,55,622 deaths in 4,03,116 road accidents across India. According to MoRTH figures, from 2017 to 2021, nearly 7,39,266 people died in road accidents in India. That is more than half the size of India's official number of active defence personnel, which is 14 lakh—and many times more than the number of people dying due to acts of terror or in border skirmishes. Most accidents that cause fatalities involve carelessness among the motorists themselves. The much-improved quality of roads (mainly highways) and availability of more powerful vehicles have led to rampant indulgence in over-speeding while neglecting road safety. Unmarked road humps are a perennial threat to the lives of two-wheeler riders. Besides, the habit of jaywalking among pedestrians without proper and safe footpaths only compounds the threat.

What must worry all and sundry is Union Minister for Road Transport & Highways, Nitin Gadkari, informing the Rajya Sabha on April 6 this year that 69.80% of those dying in road accidents in 2020 were in the age group of 18–45—the most productive age category. This indicates the enormous loss of precious human resources due to road accidents. What is required is scientific road planning and safety, strict enforcement by the traffic police and transport departments, and regional transport offices' stringent screening over granting motorists licences. It is time to stop this enormous waste of human resources due to the much-avoidable road deaths.

TIME FOR INDIA TO FIND NEXT SINDHU

There were stories of triumphs and heartbreaks during the World Championships in Tokyo last week. There were also tales of history, like our men's doubles pair Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty. They ensured India returned with a medal this time too, which the country has been managing since 2011 (with women's doubles bronze). The heartening side of Satwik-Chirag bronze is they have opened a new frontier: men's doubles. And their performance graph is moving north effortlessly.

Otherwise, it was a modest tournament in the Indian context, especially in the women's. The quest to identify replacements for the likes of Olympic medallists P V Sindhu and Saina Nehwal continues. To put things into perspective, Sindhu won five World Championship medals since 2013, including a gold. She did not participate this time due to injury, while Saina, 32, lost in the pre-quarters. The new crop of singles players is far from the top. It's time the Badminton Association of India (BAI) and its think tank re-strategise and invest in a long-term plan, focussing on a wide range of players from different parts of the country. More exposure to elite events would also be crucial for grooming them for bigger challenges. India will be hosting two international challengers this year, and hopefully, this will help the youngsters gain confidence and, crucially, ranking points. We are among the top badminton nations in the world, but to maintain dominance in this gruelling sport, we must collectively persevere and pursue excellence.

At some level, winning just one medal is a step down from the two India won—in the men's singles—in 2021. The obvious inference is that in 2021, the Worlds was held very late in the season, and there were withdrawals after the Olympics. In men's singles, though the competition and draw are critical, consistency needs to be looked into. With another Worlds scheduled next year, doing well for the likes of Lakshya Sen is important before the 2024 Paris Olympics. It's a case of the glass being half-full or half-empty, but if India is to ensure there is always some water remaining, it must keep medalling.

There is a lack of fairness in the process that led to the Gujarat government's decision. Its basis, which is the circular of 1992, can hardly pass constitutional muster

REMISSION AND THE NOTION OF JUSTICE

KALEESWARAM RAJ
Lawyer, Supreme Court of India

SOUMYADIP SINHA

It is not merely of some importance but is of fundamental importance that justice should not only be done but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done," said Lord Hewart in R v. Sussex justices (1923). The then Chief Justice of England was referring to the appearance of bias in an adjudicatory process. The decision by the Sussex judges was set aside by the King's Bench for this reason. Incidentally, one may recall that Chief Justice Hewart was also the author of the classic work The New Despotism (1929), which exposed an exalted executive torpedoing rule of law with unbridled power, disregarding the other limbs of the state, namely, the legislature and the court.

One may have to reread Chief Justice Hewart while assessing the ethical content of the remission recently ordered by the state government in the Gujarat gang rape and murder case. Not just the court but also the executive owes a duty to the public at large to show that justice is done and what is done is justice, in the context of remission.

Nobody can have a case where once there is a conviction and imposition of sentence, there should not be a reconsideration of it at any time in future. The law of the land also indicates otherwise. Section 432 of the Criminal Procedure Code (Cr. PC) refers to the power of the government to suspend or remit the sentence. Section 433 of the Cr.PC says that the government can commute a sentence of death for any other punishment. It also says that a sentence of life imprisonment can be commuted for a term not exceeding 14 years or for a fine. It empowers the government to alter a sentence of rigorous imprisonment to one of simple imprisonment. Section 433A indicates that a minimum of 14 years of imprisonment should be ensured for convicts who could have been sentenced to death and for whom the benefit of commutation is granted. These provisions are in addition to the government's pardoning power under Articles 72 and 161 of the Constitution of India.

The order of the Gujarat Government is essentially based on a cryptic circular of 1992, which was superseded by Gujarat's changed policy of 2014, which refers to the Supreme Court directives on remission in a 2012 judgment. The principle that a person could be convicted only if his act is an offence at the time of its commission is well known. This flows from Article 20(1) of the Constitution. In tune with this proposition, the law of remission needs to be conceived. The Supreme Court in the State of Haryana v. Jagdish (2010) said that a request for remission requires consideration based on the policy as on the date of conviction. In the Gujarat episode, the conviction by the trial court occurred in 2008. As such, technically, the old policy, however irrational and unjust it was, would, nevertheless, govern the matter.

Yet, the way in which the convicts in the Gujarat case were freed is disturbing because of its blatant negation of the idea of justice. Merely because the government has the power for remission, it does not follow that the exercise of that power is legal or legitimate in all circumstances. In Swamy Shraddananda (2008), the Supreme Court held that while it can substitute the death sentence with imprisonment for life, taking note of the gravity of the offence in each case, it can also direct that the convict should not be released from prison, till his last breath. Thus, the court indicated that the seriousness of the offence for which one is convicted should be taken into account while deciding his eligibility for remission.

> The Gujarat Government's decision fails to satisfy the parameters for remission laid down by the apex court in Laxman Naskar v. Union of India (2000) as well. The court, in Naskar, indicated that whether the crime was merely an individual act or one that affected the society at large ought to be a valid point for consideration

The Gujarat Government's decision fails to satisfy the parameters for remission laid down by the apex court in Laxman Naskar v. Union of India (2000) as well. The court, in Naskar, indicated that whether the crime was merely an individual act or one that affected the society at large ought to be a valid point for consideration

Other relevant factors could be the convict's capacity to repeat the crimes and the possibility of recurrence of the crimes. A full Bench of the Kerala High Court, speaking through Justice Jayasankaran Nambiar, in a Suo Motu case (2019), held that premature release of prisoners could not be ordered by disregarding public interest.

The Supreme Court decided the case, Sanaboina Satyanarayana v. Government of Andhra Pradesh (2003), in the context of offences against women. The court said that the benefit of remission could be denied to those who are convicted of offences against women. The court even said those who "violate fundamental values of mankind, society and national interest should not get the undeserved benefit".

To put it plainly, there is a lack of fairness in the process that led to the Gujarat government's decision. Its basis, which is the circular of 1992, can hardly pass constitutional muster. The opinion of the victim was never sought before the decision was taken. The cases were not individually examined. Each person's conduct in prison and the 'reformability' were to be separately assessed. A general order based on the recommendations of a committee, discarding the specificities of the crime and convicts, has clearly conveyed an unpleasant message.

Therefore, one feels that in a case that shocked the collective conscience of the nation, justice is neither done nor appears to have been done. And this happened at a time when those who fought for justice for the victims of the Gujarat riots were sent to the place where the convicts would have been staying over.

FROM AMBANI TO ADANI: THE NDTV SAGA

ALAM SRINIVAS
Independent Journalist

This story begins more than 14 years ago, in 2008, and meanders through several twists and turns. The process encompasses issues related to politics, corporate finance, the stock market, media ambitions, and personal equations. As the Adani Group prepares to swallow and take over NDTV, a prominent media company, and the Roy family (wife-husband Radhika and Prannoy), the owner, takes steps to defend its empire, the tale raises unanswered questions that are intriguing and mystifying. This piece clears the prevalent fog of confusion.

Most articles on the issue focus on the political and media-related implications of the Adani-NDTV deal.

This article will dissect the process, a maze of corporate trails that leads from Mukesh Ambani, the promoter of the sprawling oil-to-tech Reliance Group, to Gautam Adani, the fourth richest global billionaire whose net worth has catapulted 18 times to $145 billion in the past few years. It provides insights into what to expect in the near future.

Will Adani succeed, as it seems now, or will the Roy family manage to survive, which looks tough?

Why did Mukesh Ambani sell NDTV stake to Gautam Adani?

In June 2008, the Roy family decided to openly buy NDTV shares from the other shareholders through what is technically dubbed an 'open offer'. Prannoy and Radhika borrowed ₹540 crore from Indiabulls Financial Services to finance the purchase. In October 2008, they took a loan of ₹375 crore from ICICI Bank to pay back Indiabulls. In both cases, the promoters pledged their shares against the loans. In July 2009, the Roys asked the Mukesh Ambani-owned firm for a ₹350 crore loan, which went up to ₹400 crore in 2010, to return the money to ICICI.

While the Ambani loan came free of interest—the interest on the ICICI loan was 19% per annum—it had several crucial riders. The prominent one was that if the Roy family was unable to pay back the amount, Ambani was entitled to own a 29% stake in NDTV at the pre-decided price of ₹214.65 per share. The NDTV stock price then stood at ₹130, although it had peaked earlier at ₹482. However, Ambani never exercised the right to own the shares. Now, Reliance insiders contend that there were two degrees of separation between Ambani and Adani.

Three years after the Ambani-Roy deal, in 2012, the Ambani-owned firm which gave the loan of ₹400 crore, was sold to Mahendra Nahata Group. A few years later, Surendra Lunia Group purchased the company. This year, Lunia sold it to Adani Group, which exercised the right to convert the loan into a 29% stake in NDTV. Adani announced an 'open offer' to further acquire 26% from existing NDTV shareholders. Thus, claim Reliance insiders, Ambani did not sell to Adani. Lunia did.

However, this seems a bit specious. Nahata is a director in Reliance Jio Infocomm, Mukesh Ambani's telecom venture. Nahata purchased an all-India telecom spectrum in the 2010 auction and sold it to Reliance Group the day the auction ended. Lunia worked as CEO of Nahata's flagship company for a decade. Lunia was a director in a small entity which purchased HomeShop18, the e-commerce venture of Network 18 Group that was, and still is, owned by Ambani. The Lunia-Adani deal seems far-fetched without Ambani's nod.

> The Ambani-Roy agreement allowed the Roy family to retain editorial independence and brand management of NDTV. It guaranteed minimal interference in day-to-day operations, albeit with mutual consent clauses for expansion and future investment

The Ambani-Roy agreement allowed the Roy family to retain editorial independence and brand management of NDTV. It guaranteed minimal interference in day-to-day operations, albeit with mutual consent clauses for expansion and future investment

Why didn't Ambani try to take over NDTV, as Adani has done?

Three reasons can explain Ambani's lack of enthusiasm to buy NDTV. The first is political—the Roy family was close to the Congress party, whose coalition was in power until 2014. In 2009, the party came back to power. The second relates to strategy. In 2011–12, Independent Media Trust (IMT), whose sole beneficiary (controller) was Ambani's Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL), received ₹2,200 crore from RIL to enable Raghav Bahl, the promoter-founder of Network18 Group and sole trustee of IMT, to subscribe to his entitlement of the rights issue of two group firms, NW18 and CNBC18. The amount was in the form of a zero coupon (zero interest), optionally and fully convertible debentures, i.e., IMT could convert it into equity shares of Network18 firms. Reliance insiders claim that Ambani was more interested in the larger Bahl's group, rather than NDTV. In 2014, RIL gobbled up Network18.

The third reason is in the realm of personal chemistry. The Ambani-Roy agreement allowed the Roy family to retain editorial independence and brand management of NDTV. It guaranteed minimal interference in day-to-day operations, albeit with mutual consent clauses for expansion and future investment. In 2015, NDTV publicly announced that the Roy family was in control and there was no influence from outsiders. This hints that Ambani and Roys were on the same page from day one, and the former had little intention of buying out NDTV.

What is Adani's rationale behind NDTV's takeover?

Most articles on the Adani-NDTV transaction delve into its politics. The argument goes that Adani, who is perceived to be close to the central ruling regime, can change the editorial tone of one of the media entities that isn't pro-government. But there is a business rationale too. If Adani's media venture has to take off, he has to have properties before the 2024 national elections. Even as he seeks to dig his fingers into a 'big whale'—rumours abound about his interest in one of the largest media empires—he has to buy out small fish, like NDTV and Quint website.

However, it is unlikely to be an easy journey. Radhika and Prannoy will not give in easily. They will fight—legally, politically, and through shareholders and media. Adani's price for the open offer to buy a further 26% in NDTV, apart from the 29% he will own, is ₹294 per share, which is way below the current market price of ₹471.50 (12 PM; August 30, 2022). Since Adani entered the fray, the stock price has skyrocketed. The Roy family will continue to hold more than 32% of NDTV. A war between the not-so-weak David and Goliath is imminent.

Callous pilots

The recent incident of two Air France pilots fighting in the cockpit—which ultimately led to their suspension—is beyond baffling. Another example of sheer irresponsibility is when two pilots dozed off while the plane was 37,000 feet above air. This puts the passengers' lives at risk and must be strongly condemned and probed. There is a need for stricter laws to ensure air safety.

Cong's only way to survive

It has come to the point where the Congress party can only regain its lost glory if its present leaders bid adieu to their positions. It is essential for the growth of the party to march ahead with fresh faces at its fore. Ever since Rahul Gandhi's entrance, the party's popularity has been dwindling. If faces like this are dropped from the helm, more able leaders like Shashi Tharoor could make an entrance and steer the Congress ship in the right direction.

The decision of the Supreme Court to close all the proceedings arising out of demolition of Babri Masjid in 1992 is a step in the right direction. There is no point in taking forward an issue that has lost its relevance. However, politicians want to keep the pot boiling. Courts are the only places which have the power to shut out political opinions that try to vitiate the atmosphere.

Capt meets PM, sets off merger buzz

Talks reportedly centred on nitty-gritty of formal merger of Amarinder Singh's party with BJP

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FORMER Punjab CM Capt Amarinder Singh met PM Modi on Monday along with his son Raninder, setting off rumours about a merger of Singh's party with the BJP.

It was Singh's first meeting with the PM after the February polls in Punjab in which Singh's Punjab Lok Congress (PLC) had allied with the saffron camp.

The BJP had contested 73 seats while PLC 28. In the pro-AAP wave, the BJP won only two seats while its ally drew nil for the 117-member Assembly polls. Amarinder too lost from his home turf Patiala Urban.

"It would have been better off for Captain to have merged with the BJP and carried out a full-throttle campaign. It makes sense for the former chief minister to come on board now since many of his former colleagues including Sunil Jakhar have joined the party," said a leader from the state.

Sources close to the former CM said the Singh-Modi meeting took place in Delhi, and is considered a precursor to the "merger."

Discussions reportedly centred on the nitty-gritty of the formal merger such as adjustments to be made by both sides.

Captain Amarinder Singh and his son Raninder Singh meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi on Tuesday | TWITTER

Sources said Amarinder would likely meet BJP chief JP Nadda next week. Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, who is also BJP's Punjab incharge, is likely to meet Amarinder soon at the Siswan farmhouse of the ex-CM.

Sources said Amarinder wants to continue in active politics and that a reshuffle in the Modi ministry could as well be expected in the coming days.

After meeting the PM, Amarinder took to Twitter. "Had a warm meeting with Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri @narendramodi Ji. Discussed various issues related to Punjab and resolved to work together for safety and security of the state and the country, which has and will always remain of paramount concern to both of us."

Amarinder was recuperating after a spinal surgery in London. He returned a few days back. Singh, the scion of the erstwhile Patiala royal family, has been CM twice. He had floated the PLC after quitting the Congress following his humiliating exit as the CM last year. Sources said that after Prime Minister Narendra Modi had withdrawn the three contentious farm laws last year, the BJP was no longer seen as a "pariah" in the political landscape of the state and it was easier now for leaders interested in joining to cross over. BJP sources said that Singh's entry into the BJP camp could give a fillip to attempts by the party to make inroads in Punjab before the 2024 Lok Sabha polls. Sources said that the Punjab BJP after having managed to get several former leaders from other parties to join believes it can make some gains.

WARM-UP TO 2024

Ahead of KCR's Bihar visit, RJD bats for Nitish as PM candidate

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

AHEAD of Telangana chief minister K Chandrashekhar Rao's visit to Bihar today, RJD on Tuesday strongly pitched for projection of Bihar CM Nitish Kumar as prime ministerial candidate and said that party supremo Lalu Prasad would also take up the matter with the Congress.

Rao will be meeting RJD chief Lalu, Nitish and his deputy Tejashwi Yadav during his visit to the state capital on Wednesday. He will be holding discussions with Bihar leaders to forge a broader opposition unity ahead of the Lok Sabha election. According to the official statement, Telangana CM will provide financial assistance to the families of Galwan Valley martyrs and also to families of 12 Bihar labourers who were killed in a mishap in Telangana. Rao is visiting Bihar within a month after Nitish dumped NDA and joined hands with RJD once again to form a grand alliance government in the state. It is seen as Nitish's well-calculated move to plunge into the national politics and pass on the baton to his deputy and RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav. RJD also apparently wants Nitish to give the post of CM to Tejashwi sooner than expected and concentrate on the national politics to emerge as challenger to Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the 2024 Lok Sabha election. RJD spokesperson Mrityunjay Tiwari said, "Nitish Kumar has a long parliamentary experience and also huge capability. Lalu Ji will talk to the Congress top leadership and will also convince the party on it (making Nitish Prime Ministerial candidate). Nitish Ji will unfurl tricolour at the Red Fort."

"All opposition parties will sit together and decide the name of the Prime Ministerial candidate". Meanwhile, BJP launched a blistering attack on Nitish. Former deputy chief minister and BJP MP Sushil Kumar Modi, "Nitish is dreaming to become PM but the political situation is like that he will not even be CM for a long time. Lalu will soon split JD (U) and make his son Tejashwi CM."

Seeking Opposition unity before 2024 polls

Rao will be meeting RJD chief Lalu, Nitish and his deputy Tejashwi Yadav during his visit to the state capital on Wednesday. He will be holding discussions with Bihar leaders to forge a broader Opposition unity ahead of the Lok Sabha election.

SC closes Gujarat 2002 riots cases, calls them infructuous

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday closed all the proceedings related to 2002 Gujarat riots in which it had appointed a Special Investigation Team (SIT) for conducting investigation and prosecution in nine major cases. Noting that the trial in eight out of nine cases was over and final arguments were going on in trial court in Naroda Gaon, the bench of CJI U U Lalit, S R Bhat and J B Pardiwala disposed the cases as infructuous. "Since all the matters have now become infructuous, this court is of the view that this court need not entertain these petitions any longer. The matters are therefore disposed of as having become infructuous," the court said in its order.

It also directed for concluding the trial pending in Naroda Gaon in accordance with law. "It is however directed that the trial with respect to Naroda Gaon be taken to conclusion in accordance with law and to that extent, the SIT appointed by this court, is certainly entitled to take appropriate steps in accordance with law," court's order said. The SC's order had come in petitions filed by National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) post-Godhra riots wherein they had sought for an independent probe. Senior Advocate Mukul Rohatgi informed the bench that the trial in only one matter was pending and all the other matters were at appellate stage either before the SC or HC. Advocate Aparna Bhat also the SC that there was nothing left to be decided in the cases now. Bhat however added that Teesta Setalvad whose NGO had moved an application before the SC for probe into the cases seeking protection was pending.

THE Jharkhand's ruling coalition of JMM, Congress and RJD took 32 MLAs to Raipur by an Indigo Airbus 9952 on Tuesday in order to thwart possible attempts of horse-trading by the BJP. There were a total of 41 passengers on the 180-seater aircraft, which also included state Congress chief Rajesh Thakur and other leaders.

Two buses carrying UPA MLAs and leaders, including Chief Minister Hemant Soren, reached Birsa Munda Airport in Ranchi amid tight security and entered directly into the aircraft from the VIP gate. Soren, after seeing the MLAs off, returned to his official residence calling the move as a part of the strategy to outsmart any possible attempt of horse-trading by the BJP. After landing, 32 MLAs—19 JMM, 12 Congress and one RJD—and nine leaders were taken on three luxury buses to a private May Fair resort at Nava Raipur, the new capital city, under police security. The MLAs were received by senior Chhattisgarh Congress leaders at the airport.

"The MLAs will have nice time together in Raipur till August 31. Rooms have been booked for two days, which may be extended, depending on the situation. Some ministers and leaders may return to Ranchi attend the cabinet meeting on September 1," sources told this newspaper.

In Ranchi, Soren said, "The ruling alliance is ready to face any situation. It is part of our strategy. The ruling alliance will give befitting reply to the conspirators,"

Among those who did not board the flight to Raipur included Soren, his brother Basant Soren, Lobin Hembrom, Joba Manjhi, Champai Soren, Jagrnath Mahto, Hafijul Hassan, Mithilesh Thakur and Savita Mahto (recuperating after surgery). Sources said that Basant Sorena and Lobin Hembrom have been asked to camp in Dumka in the wake of Ankita murder case. Congress MLA Pradeep Yadav did not go due to ill-health, Mamta Devi is recuperating after delivery and three legislators, who are trapped in cash recovery case, are in Kolkata.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will unveil a new ensign of the Indian Navy during the commissioning of the country's first indigenously-built aircraft carrier INS Vikrant on September 2, the PMO said on Tuesday. The Prime Minister will commission INS Vikrant at Cochin Shipyard Limited in Kochi and during the event, he will also "unveil the new Naval Ensign (Nishaan), doing away with the colonial past," the PMO said in a statement.

The new ensign will be "befitting the rich Indian maritime heritage," it added.

INS Vikrant will contribute in ensuring peace and stability in the Indo-Pacific and Indian Ocean region, Vice Chief of Indian Navy Vice Admiral S N Ghormade had said on August 25, ahead of the warship's commissioning. Built at a cost of around ₹20,000 crore, it will be commissioned into the Navy at a ceremony in Kochi.

Abhijit Sen, advocate of universal PDS, dead

CHANDAN NANDY @ New Delhi

THE wireless mike gripped firmly in his right hand, his left arm jerked with every emphatic point that he made to a group of students and faculty in one of the halls at Jawaharlal Nehru University. His long, grey beard concealed his smile each time he provided sound logic to prove how disastrous the government's demonetisation move was. His long, baggy kurta moved with the short back-and-forth steps he took as his audience stood in a large semi-circle. This impromptu gathering at JNU, slightly over five years ago, was in the backdrop of the continuing aftershocks of demonetisation.

As an Economics scholar, Professor Abhijit Sen's hallmark was to lecture gently. It was not so much his vocal force as much as reasoning and logic that impacted his students and admirers alike. He took along the same qualities to the Planning Commission which he joined in 2004 to make incisive policy formulations on, and advocacy of, a universal public distribution system (PDS).

Besides his two terms at the Planning Commission, which at the time was the foremost organisation on policy, Professor Sen was internationally recognised as a leading expert on the rural economy. So, when he passed away late on the night of August 29 at the age of 72, he left behind a void in his field of specialisation as well as the larger community of left-liberal economists.

1950-2022

Professor Sen is survived by his wife, economist Jayati Ghosh, and daughter, Jahnavi Sen who is a journalist.

Sen was born in Jamshedpur on November 18, 1950. When his parents — his father Samar Sen was an economist at the World Bank — moved with him to Delhi, Sen was enrolled at Sardar Patel Vidyalaya before he pursued Physics as his chosen subject at St Stephen's College. He next made a switch to Economics, taking a PhD from Cambridge University where his thesis was on 'The Agrarian Constraint to Economic Development: The Case of India'. His completed the Doctoral programme under the supervision of Professor Suzy Paine.

Continuing in academia, Sen's teaching career took him to universities in Sussex, Oxford, Cambridge and Essex. In 1985, he settled to teach at JNU's Centre for Economic Studies and Planning where he met and worked closely with other economists such Krishna Bharadwaj, Prabhat Pattnaik, C P Chandreshekhar, Amit Bhaduri and Jayati Ghosh. This circle of economists took the department at JNU to great heights, making it a leading centre for the study of development economics and the Indian economy.

His formidable reputation as an economist led him to play a crucial role, beginning in the late 1990s, in policy formulation. The United Front regime of the time appointed him as the head of the Commission on Agricultural Costs and Prices (CACP), whose objective was to recommend minimum support prices for several farm commodities, in 1997.

In 2000, the Vajpayee-led NDA government appointed him head of the committee of experts on long term grain policy which went on to recommend introduction of a universal PDS for rice and wheat for all consumers and the CACP be elevated as an empowered and statutory body.

Man of gentle voice, reason and logic

Germany to hold drills with India: New envoy

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

GERMANY will play a more significant role in the Indo Pacific and conduct joint military exercises with India.

"Germany has taken interest in the Indo Pacific and that reflects our concern in this region, though we hope that the mounting tension near Taiwan does not escalate further. We are also going to conduct joint military exercises with India in the Indo Pacific," said Germany's new Ambassador to India, Dr Philipp Ackermann.

Germany had sent a Bayern frigate to the South China Sea last year, which was seen as a tough stand against territorial claims of China in Asia.

German and Indian air forces sent fighter jets to take part in the recent multinational military exercise 'Pitch Black 2022' in Australia.

Ambassador Ackermann said the tension that India faced across the LAC was different from what Ukraine was undergoing.

"We are aware of the problem at the northern side of the border that India is facing and we clearly see that as an infringement of the border which should not be accepted. However, this is nothing compared to Ukraine as Russia has usurped 20% of the Ukrainian territory," he said.

There have been blatant violations of international laws by Russia in Ukraine, he said. "The situation is similar to what happened in 1939 when Germany invaded Poland," said Ambassador Ackermann. He has worked in India for three years beginning 2007 as the political counsellor in the German Embassy.

Pawar to hit the road as part of 'mass connect'

Asks NCP workers to reach out to people in Thane, Pune

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

NCP chief Sharad Pawar has decided to hit the road once again to gather public support. The 81-year-old leader has also asked his party leaders to reach out to people, especially in districts like Thane and Pune that elect the maximum MLAs.

"We have been told to focus on areas where the NCP is weak, and constituencies where Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde's camp has a strong presence," an NCP leader told this newspaper about the meeting held by Pawar with the cadre on Monday. Talking to his party men, the veteran leader said that he would travel to the masses, and expressed confidence that the people of Maharashtra are with them, the source further revealed.

"There is an anti-incumbency mood in the state. People have not liked the way the government was toppled by using the central machinery and money. So they will surely teach a lesson to Shinde and BJP in the upcoming elections. We are preparing ourselves for the local body elections that can be announced by this year-end," the NCP leader added.

BMC POLLS: BJP WOOS KONKANI VOTERS

With the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) elections looming ahead, the BJP is trying to create a deeper imprint in Shiv Sena's core Marathi-Konkani vote bank. The party provided them free train and bus rides on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi to visit their native places in the Konkan region. Mumbai residents hailing from Konkan have been hardcore Sena supporters. The BJP arranged several trains and buses, named after PM Narendra Modi, for the purpose, BJP MLA Nilesh Rane said. Over 5,000 people availed this facility, he added. "Ganesh festival is an integral part of Konkan people's lives, who go to their home towns to celebrate it with their relatives," Rane said, adding that getting tickets is, however, difficult during this time. "This year, we asked people to register at our offices or websites to streamline the process," Rane said. Meanwhile, BJP's Ravindra Chavan, the state roadways minister, inspected the Mumbai-Goa highway and asked the public works department to ensure repairs. ENS

Jitendra Ahwad, former housing minister and senior NCP leader, said they are blessed to have got Pawar as their leader. "He is someone who always wants to remain with people. He wants to go back to them whether we are in power or not. It inspires us and motivates us to do the same," he added.

NCP MLA Rohit Pawar, who is the grandson of Sharad Pawar, also said that he gets mesmerised after seeing the senior leader's energy. "Pawar saheb is truly a young man. He has an indomitable spirit to fight, and works the entire day without any complaint of tiredness. The youth also get attracted towards NCP due to our leadership," Rohit said.

Recruitment scam: CBI probe sought

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE kingpin of the cheating racket in recruitment exams in Uttarakhand has given sleepless nights to several political leaders, including a former Congress chief minister and some sitting ministers.

As of Tuesday, the state's special police force (STF) has made 29 arrests in the Uttarakhand Subordinate Services Selection Commission (UKSSSC) recruitment scam.

Several leaders, including former CM Harish Rawat and Trivendra Singh Rawat, former assembly speaker Govind Singh Kunjwal and Premchand Agarwal have been somewhat uncomfortable with the STF's action in the last two days.

Former assembly speaker Govind Singh Kunjwal's letter went viral on social media, triggering an uproar over how the speaker made appointments of his relatives and loved ones on undated plain paper through the backdoor in the assembly.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has demanded a probe by the CBI and the ED into recruitment scams in the state.

AAP state coordinator Jot Singh Bisht on Tuesday asked Prime Minister Narendra Modi to break his silence on the continuing scams in the state.

Ganesh Chaturthi: Communal clash breaks out in Guj

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

ON Monday, at least 13 people were detained after a communal clash erupted in Vadodara during a Ganesh Chaturthi procession. Stone-pelting broke out when a procession carrying an idol of Lord Ganesh was passing through Panigate Darwaza. No one was injured. An FIR was registered against members of both sides on charges of rioting and unlawful assembly.

FIR lodged

Stone-pelting broke out when a procession carrying an idol of Lord Ganesh was passing through Panigate Darwaza. No one was injured. An FIR was registered against members of both sides on charges of rioting and unlawful assembly.

Meanwhile, five persons were arrested in Banaskantha district on Monday after complainant Rajesh Solanki, the brother of Haresh who belongs to Malgadh village in Deesa taluka, said he consumed poison on Saturday. Haresh was hospitalised in Palanpur in a critical condition. He was allegedly depressed after five persons "brainwashed" his wife, Chandrika, to get converted to Islam and moved a petition before the court in her name, seeking permission to live separately.

The accused allegedly pressured Haresh to either convert or pay Rs 25 lakh for getting reunited with his family.

"A case has been registered against five members of the Sheikh family," sub-inspector BG Suthar said.

Earlier in the week, an FIR was registered on Friday after a woman told the police that her son had died by suicide after being force-fed beef by his live-in partner and her brother.

Rohit Singh had killed himself in Surat on June 27 after posting a suicide note on Facebook, which was brought to the notice of his illiterate family only recently. According to the FIR, Singh, a resident of Udhna area, hanged himself using a dupatta. After this, a complaint was lodged against Sonam Ali and her brother Mukhtar Zakir Ali. "We detained Sonam Ali from Uttar Pradesh on Tuesday," J.T. Sonara, ACP-B Div Surat, said.

Focus on Nainital's British-era edifices

During pre-Independence era, Nainital became the choice of the British due to the hill town offering a climate like London. Since 1842, the British decorated Nainital as a comfortable and beautiful city on the lines of the English capital. In 2021, Nainital-bred Dheeraj Garbyal (in pic) became the district magistrate and it is he who has resolved to remodel the scattered archaeological beauty of the city, and to break apart dominance of concrete in its development model. The Raj Bhavan and some other buildings were built in Gothic style, while the famous local markets were decorated along the lines of London's Downing Street.

Woman jumps into Naini Lake for Net fame

If social media and the internet have some advantages, it also has drawbacks. A living example of this was seen near Nainital Lake on Sunday when a middle-aged woman jumped into water with the intention of scoring a lot of likes on social media. Some say she jumped into the Naini Lake with the intention of taking her own life. The youths, who were swimming nearby in the lake, pulled out the woman and sent her to the hospital through the police. The woman told the police that she took the step to get more and more likes on the internet and thereby earn money. The woman was later admitted to the BD Pandey Hospital.

MOOSEWALA CASE

Key accused detained in Azerbaijan

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab Police trailing the killers of Punjabi singer Moosewala suspects that two alleged gangsters -- Sachin Thapan Bishnoi and Anmol Bishnoi – are in Azerbaijan and Kenya respectively.

Sources said Azerbaijani authorities have detained Sachin on the request of the Indian government. Both had fled India on fake passports issued from Delhi before the murder took place on May 29.

Sources say the Ministry of External Affairs is moving swiftly to have Sachin Bishnoi extradited from Azerbaijan. The MEA in a letter to the Punjab Police has sought details about the accused, the arrest warrants and their role in case. The Anti-Gangster Task Force along with the Mansa district police is doing necessary paperwork for Sachin's extradition. Efforts are also on to detain Anmol Bishnoi at his current location in Kenya. The suspect is a brother of gangster Lawrence Bishnoi who is the mastermind in the killing.

Rift in Punjab Cong widens as another MLA slams state party chief

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IT seems the Congress is not learning from its past mistakes, as the state unit of the party is plagued with infighting. Now a show-cause notice has been issued to three-time MLA Sukhpal Singh Khaira for speaking against Punjab party chief Amrinder Singh Raja Warring. Khaira had asked the state party president to 'not to waste the energy' of party workers defending individuals.

Another party MLA Sandeep Jakhar from Abohar had already slammed Warring for 'publicly rebuking' a fellow legislator.

Punjab party affairs incharge Harish Chaudhary has sent a show-cause notice to Khaira, MLA from Bholath, seeking a reply on his public statement against Warring. Khaira had stated that there are other burning issues in the state like the lumpy skin disease and farmers' suicides.

He had made these comments after the arrest of former Congress minister Bharat Bhusan Ashu, who is in the custody of the state vigilance bureau.

Khaira, who is also the All India Kisan Congresschairman, had made the statement after the arrest of former cabinet ministerAshu in an alleged food grain transportation scam.

"I request @RajaBrar_INC not towaste party cadres energy over defending individuals as there're tons ofburning issues facing Pb like Beadbi, farmer suicides, water logging, Lsd etc.I faced ED & bcoz i was truthful, Bholath voted me to Vidhan Sabha. If ourleaders r honest why worry? (sic)," Khaira had tweeted.

Warring is 'arrogant'

Recently Sandeep Jakhar party MLA from Abohar did not mince any words to say that Warring is "arrogant" after state congress chief replied to Khaira that one should not give suggestions when it is not asked for it".

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

BJP seeks to gain OBC votes in south Rajasthan

THE BJP has stepped up its efforts in southern Rajasthan to woo voters, a year ahead of the state Assembly polls. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh was in Udaipur on Tuesday to unveil the statue of Panna Dhai, associated with the Maharana of Mewar and the founder of the city Udai Singh-II. His visit comes ahead of Home Minister Amit Shah's trip to Jodhpur for the party's national executive meeting of the OBC Morcha in September.

Jodhpur is the home town of CM Ashok Gehlot who comes from the OBC category. The BJP aims to weaken his OBC support base in his home town. Gehlot is spending four days in Jodhpur in an attempt to consolidate the base in his bastion. The BJP has prepared an action plan to cater to the OBC voters in the assembly and Lok Sabha elections in 2024. It will start from Jodhpur where Home Minister Amit Shah will address the party's national working committee meeting on OBC Morcha on September 10.

OBC MLAs can influence voters in at least 50 seats in the Jodhpur division. Of the 15 MLAs from the region, 11 are from Congress and the rest from BJP. The big reason for holding the OBC meet in Jodhpur is to lure the OBC vote bank in the BJP.

Besides OBC Morcha's national president and parliamentary board member K. Laxman, all state chiefs of the party's OBC Morcha across the country will come to Rajasthan to join the National Working Committee.

Shah likely to visit poll-bound J&K in Sept

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AMID the commotion of resignations in the state Congress party, and with the first Assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir coming into clearer view, Home Minister Amit Shah is likely to make a visit to J&K in September-end. He would be addressing four public rallies, two each in Kashmir and Jammu, during the two-day visit, a senior BJP leader told this newspaper.

"He will stay for a day each in Kashmir and Jammu," the leader said. Shah will also hold meetings with Lt Governor Manoj Sinha, top officials and state BJP leaders. He will review the security and developmental situation in the UT, and also discuss with local leaders the preparations for the first Assembly elections in J&K.

This would be the home minister's second visit to the state this year. In March, he had visited Jammu to attend the 83rd CRPF Raising Day function. Before that, he undertook a 4-day visit in October last year, which was his first here after the abrogation of Article 370. During his visit last year, Shah had said he will talk to the people of Kashmir instead of talking to Pakistan.

Tortured jumbo: Assam to move court against TN

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE Assam government will move the court against the Tamil Nadu government for not returning an elephant, which has been subjected to torture at a temple, as alleged by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) India.

Assam's principal chief conservator of forest and chief wildlife warden MK Yadava told this newspaper on Tuesday that as Joymala, the adult female elephant, could not be brought back to the state due to non-cooperation from the Tamil Nadu government, the Assam government decided to take legal recourse.

He said that after more than a year of communication, the chief wildlife warden of Tamil Nadu had issued an order in April or May this year granting permission to take away Joymala. "However, the technical problem is that the Tamil Nadu forest department needs to take possession of the animal. It is only then that we can bring it. Otherwise, it will become a case of robbery," Yadava said.

Joymala was leased out to the temple in 2008, reportedly for six months, by an individual from Assam's Tinsukia.

"The Tamil Nadu government had requested us to bear all expenses. We said share your bank account details and we will transfer Rs 5 lakh. We will subsequently make the full payment of all expenses required to secure the animal," Yadava added. The Tamil Nadu government manages the temple trust but despite the order, it has not released Joymala. "We are ready from our side to bring back the elephant," Yadava said.

The Assam government had written to the Tamil Nadu government for the release of altogether six elephants. Similarly, Yadava said it is now writing to the Odisha government to return four-five other elephants.

"We act whenever we receive some complaint," he said adding, "Once the elephant in question is brought back, we will give her a happy retired life, maybe in one of our parks where it can roam free without any departmental duty to perform." Joymala was leased out to the temple in 2008, reportedly for six months, by an individual from Assam's Tinsukia.

> In a video, a mahout was seen beating up Joymala using weapons, including pliers...she was beaten so ruthlessly that she can be heard screaming in pain in the viral video
>
> PETA activist

On August 26, PETA India had exposed the abuse of Joymala. In a video, a mahout was seen beating up Joymala using weapons, including pliers.

"...she was beaten so ruthlessly that she can be heard screaming in pain in a viral video..." PETA India said in a statement. The manner in which the animal is being managed at the temple has ruffled the feathers of wildlife activists in Assam.

One of them, who refused to be named, said he would also file a case in the court against the Tamil Nadu government and the temple trust.

"The temple trust hasn't been able to manage the animal," said the activist.

Visually impaired MP youth bags ₹45 lakh job offer from Microsoft

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

STEPHEN Hawking's famous words, "Disability need not be an obstacle to success," have been proved correct by 25-year-old Yash Sonkiya. A young software engineer in Indore, conquering his congenital Glaucoma (which caused irreversible blindness since birth), has bagged a prized job from global Information and Technology (IT) firm Microsoft. He got an offer of Rs 45 lakh per annum after clearing an online test and three rounds of interviews between March and June this year.

The eldest among three children of district court canteen head Yashpal Sonkiya and housewife Yogita Sonkiya, Yash is now readying to join Microsoft at its Bengaluru campus as a software engineer soon.

He will start his work from home with his long time aid, the screen reader software.

Importantly, Yash wasn't placed with the IT major through any campus interview, but applied for working with Microsoft on his own, after which through his analytical skills via coding, he succeeded in clearing the online test and three rounds of interviews.

Yash Sonkiya is 25 years old

"Since childhood it has been my dream to become a successful engineer, but owing to Glaucoma-related limitations, I knew that I won't be able to make it branches like mechanical, civil, chemical, metallurgical or mining engineering. So, I zeroed in on computers right from school days and completed the B.Tech last year from Shri Govindram Seksaria Institute of Technology, Indore," Yash told The New Indian Express.

Proud of eldest son's achievement, father Yashpal and mother Yogita Sonkiya said, "Yash always wanted to become an engineer. Eight eye surgeries in the first seven years of his life failed to reverse the congenital deformity. We only encouraged him with an innate feeling that he won't be able to achieve his dream. But as he grew up, his fascination for electronics gave him a new name 'Chalta Phirta computer'. With his sheer perseverance and god-gifted analytical skills, he has achieved what he had aspired for."

Pakistan & UN jointly appeal for $160 mn to deal with fatal floods

Country's Interior Minister said that the nation would need more than $10 billion to rebuild the infrastructure

ISLAMABAD

GRAPPLING with unprecedented floods, the cash-strapped Pakistan government on Tuesday teamed up with the United Nations to issue a flash appeal for $160 million to deal with the disaster that has displaced over 33 million people in the country that has become the ground zero of global warming. Pakistan's Interior Minister Ahsan Iqbal said on Tuesday that the country would need more than $10 billion to rebuild the infrastructure devastated by the raging floods, which roughly translates to 3% of the country's GDP.

"Pakistan is awash in suffering," UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres said in a video message. "The Pakistani people are facing a monsoon on steroids-the relentless impact of epochal levels of rain and flooding." He said the funds will provide 5.2 million people with food, water, sanitation, emergency education, protection and health support.

Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari urged the global community to extend support to Pakistan and said that the devastation witnessed showed that the country had become 'ground zero' of global warming, the 'biggest existential threat' of this century, according to Foreign Office. He said the government had earmarked $173 million to help flood-hit people through direct cash transfers, while $23 million had been allocated to the National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) for relief activities. Meanwhile, former prime minister Imran Khan held an international telethon through which he raised Rs 5 billion in funds for the flood-affected people.

"The entire country has been affected by this [flood], as per initial assessment, losses of over Rs 1,000 billion were incurred due to floods and over 1,000 people have died so far," Khan said.

Khan, the Chairman of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party said during the telethon held on Monday that the objective was to raise funds for the flood victims as no government alone could deal with such a catastrophe. Meanwhile, aid continued to pour in as Canada announced aid worth $5 million, while the Chinese government has pledged 100 million yuan to the Pakistan government. Country's south-eastern Sindh province continues to reel under the onslaught of torrential rains as acres of fertile farmlands have been washed away, suffering damages to the tune of $1.6 billion, according to the Dawn newspaper. PTI

TRADE CHAMBER URGES GOVT TO IMPORT GREENS FROM INDIA

Lahore Chamber of Commerce and Industry (LCCI) urged the government to give permission to resume import of vegetables from India to bring down the soaring prices of vegetables in the country. The nation is witnessing massive surge in prices of fruits and vegetables. The price of tomatoes have soared up to Rs 500 per kg and onions Rs 400 per kg due to the devastating floods

IMF APPROVES $1.17 BN TO PAK

RUSSIA SEEKS 24 YRS IN JAIL FOR REPORTER

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN prosecutors on Tuesday requested a 24-year sentence for former reporter Ivan Safronov, who is accused of treason for allegedly sharing state secrets. The trial comes with independent media and NGOs facing increasing pressure in Russia, especially since the start of Moscow's military intervention in Ukraine.

"The prosecutor asked to sentence Ivan to 24 years in a strict regime penal colony," Safronov's lawyer Dmitry Katchev told the RIA Novosti.

Safronov's former lawyer Yevgeny Smirnov said on Facebook that the ex-reporter turned down an offer of 12 years in jail in return for a guilty plea.

He was arrested in July 2020, after leaving journalism to serve as an adviser to the head of the state space agency. The FSB security service has accused Safronov of collecting confidential information about Russian military, defence and security and handing it over to the intelligence service of a NATO member country. AFP

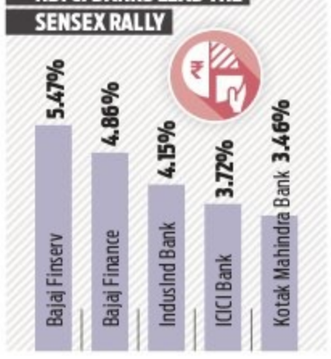
NBFC/BANKS LEAD THE SENSEX RALLY



ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INDIAN stock markets on Tuesday recovered sharply and erased Monday's losses as benchmark indices- Sensex and Nifty - surged over 2.50%.

According to market experts, investors saw a good buying opportunity to enter the market after a tepid last week and Monday's big fall. The surge was also supported by foreign investments and expectations of a robust Q1FY23 gross domestic product (GDP) number.

The Sensex ended with gains over 1,500 points at 59,537, its second-biggest single-day gain of this year, while Nifty50 settled above 17,650 levels, up 2.58% from the previous day's closing. However, the US Federal Reserve's hawkish tone on future interest rate hikes remains a concern.

Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (retail), Kotak Securities, said "Strong bounce back in local benchmark indices came on the back of recovery in Asian and European indices. Focus seemed to have shifted from hawkish Fed stance to expectations of a strong Q1 GDP numbers. Despite volatility and an uncertain global macro environment, the rally shows that India would remain a good long-term bet." He added, "We are of the view that the short-term market structure has changed from negative to positive due to a strong pullback from lower levels. But due to temporarily overbought conditions, we may see range-bound activity in the near future."

VK Vijayakumar, chief investment strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said: "It is important to appreciate the fact that valuations in India are high. Nifty is trading around 20 times forward earnings. MSCI India is trading at 100% premium to emerging market rivals. This calls for some caution. There is a possibility of further correction in the market in the near-term. Financials, capital goods, autos, telecom and FMCG are strong segments attracting investment." After losing 2.39 lakh crore on Monday when Sensex fell 861 points, investors gained ₹5.65 lakh crore on Tuesday as market capitalisation of BSE listed firms surged to ₹280.21 lakh crore from ₹274.56 lakh crore on Monday. NBFC and banking stocks witnessed high buying on Monday and we're the top gainer in the Sensex pack.

RUPEE GAINS 45 PAISE, ENDS AT 79.45 AGAINST $

After hitting the lowest level against the US dollar on Monday, the Indian currency came back strongly on Tuesday as it closed 45 paise higher against the US currency. Rupee on Monday closed at 79.45 against USD on expectation of Government of India bonds getting included on global indices. Strong FII inflows also strengthened the local currency. Anindya Banerjee, VP, Currency Derivatives & Interest Rate Derivatives at Kotak Securities Ltd, sees rupee at 79.25/30 levels.

RAISES ASSUMED RATE FOR FY2023/24 DEBT SERVICING

Japan's Ministry of Finance (MOF) has raised its assumed interest rate used to calculate debt servicing costs in its budget request for the next fiscal year, a senior ministry official said on Tuesday. The ministry has set the assumed interest rate at 1.3%, up from 1.2% the previous year, reflecting rises in long-term rates, the official told reporters. It marks the first increase in assumed interest rates since fiscal 2007/08 when the assumed rates increased to 2.9% from 2.7%, the official said. The increase in the assumed interest rate came as a reminder of how the central bank's ultra-low interest rate policy has kept government borrowing costs low to help finance debt. The ministry tends to reduce assumed interest rates later to reduce borrowing costs when the government compiles a draft annual budget in December, after scrutinising all budget requests from ministries. Budget requests must be submitted by August, 31.

INDONESIA

'TO SEE HIGHER Q3 GROWTH EVEN WITH FUEL PRICE HIKE'

Indonesia's economic growth this quarter is expected to be higher than the 5.44% rate in Q2, even with a potential fuel price hike, a senior cabinet minister said on Tuesday. Southeast Asia's biggest economy is considering raising prices of some fuels to rein in its ballooning energy subsidies budget, a move that would increase everyday costs for businesses and consumers and stoke inflation. Amid expectation of imminent fuel price hike, Indonesia's finance minister on Monday announced that the government will reallocate 24.1 trillion rupiah of its fuel subsidy budget to social spending. Lawmakers from parliament's energy committee last week told Reuters the government may raise fuel prices by 30% to 40% and that such a move will add 1.9% to the inflation rate this year. Indonesians currently pay 7,650 rupiah per litre for its most popular gasoline product, while subsidised diesel is sold at 5,150 rupiah per litre.

THAILAND

TARGETS $11 BN TOURISM REVENUE IN SECOND HALF

Thailand aims to generate 400 billion baht ($11 billion) in tourism revenue in the second half of the year, the government said on Tuesday, as the tropical holiday destination welcomes back more visitors after pandemic-induced border controls. The Southeast Asian nation has seen a rebound in tourism numbers in the first eight months of 2022, registering more than 4 million tourists, government spokeswoman Rachada Dhnadirek said. It is aiming for 10 million tourists this year. The foreign arrivals so far, mainly from Malaysia, India and Singapore, have generated revenues of 176 billion baht ($4.93 billion), according to the government. The return of international tourists have resulted in the registration of 549 new tourism-related businesses in the first seven months of the year, up 169% year-on-year, Rachada said citing commerce ministry data. The Thai government has recently announced that it will extend one of its most popular tourist visas from 15 days to 30 days starting in October, to further boost the sector.

Adani now world's third richest man, just behind Elon Musk, Jeff Bezos

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GAUTAM ADANI has now become the first Asian to become the third-richest person in the world, according to the latest Bloomberg Billionaires data. With a net worth of $137 billion, the 60-year-old chief of the port-to-Power conglomerate overtook Bernard Arnault, the French luxury retail king and co-founder of LVMH Moët Hennessy – Louis Vuitton SE.

Adani, who is in an expansion mode and has made a number of acquisitions in recent times, now trails behind Tesla's Elon Musk and Amazon's Jeff Bezos on the coveted list.

Adani's rise in the billionaire's list in the last few years has been awe-inspiring for fellow billionaires. He has added a whopping $60.9 billion to his fortune in 2022 alone, more than any other person on the list. Except Adani Ports and SEZ (14%), the other six Adani Group listed stocks have risen between 80-308% in 2022 and this is where the bulk of his wealth comes from. Except for his FMCG unit Adani-Wilmar, Gautam Adani holds the majority stake in all his listed entities. After a long neck and neck war, he first overtook RIL chief and rival billionaire Mukesh Ambani as the richest Asian and Indian in February, entered the $100-billion dollar club in April and surpassed Microsoft Corp.'s Bill Gates as the world's fourth-richest person last month. Adani's notional wealth is now about $45 more than Ambani.

Currently, Adani shares are surging at record pace as the Group is venturing into new businesses: from cement to telecom to media. It is also making make acquisitions on day-to-day basis for expanding its existing businesses. These agressive expansions, however, has raised some concerns as they mostly are debt funded.

Housing prices rise in 42 out of 50 cities: NHB Index

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOUSING prices rose in 42 cities in the first quarter of 2022-23, remained stagnant in three cities and fell in five cities, according to the price index Residex released by the National Housing Bank (NHB).

All the eight major metros in the index recorded increase in housing prices on an annual basis-- Ahmedabad (13.5%), Bengaluru (3.4%), Chennai (12.5%), Delhi (7.5%), Hyderabad (11.5%), Kolkata (6.1%), Mumbai (2.9%) and Pune (3.6%). The 50-city HPI (housing price index), based on valuation of properties collected from primary lending institutions (HPI @ Assessment Prices), stood at 122 in June, up from 120 in March and 114 in June 2021.

The annual change in HPI at assessment price varied widely across the cities – ranging from an increase of 16.1% in Coimbatore to a decline of 5.1% in Navi Mumbai. HPI tracks the movement in prices of residential properties in select 50 cities on a quarterly basis with FY 2017-18 as the base year.

The 50-city HPI at market price for under-construction properties, computed using quoted prices for under-construction and ready-to-move unsold properties, recorded an annual increase of 5.7% in the June ending quarter to 112, indicating continued demand and rising cost of construction.

Dhaval Ajmera, director of Ajmera Realty Infra, said the RBI recently raised rates by 140 bps, which raised the cost of raw materials. Rise in property prices has also been fuelled by inflationary pressures and higher EMIs for home loans, he said. He added, "The recent decline in commodity prices will assist to balance the price increase. As inflationary pressures ease, the real estate market is anticipated to restore its momentum. The price volatility of raw materials and geopolitical cues should return to normal in the following quarters. Also, the workforce returning back to the metro cities followed by increased buying during the festive season will boost the housing demand."

BSNL's 4G service may start next year due to procurement delays

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

STATE-OWNED telecom operator Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) is likely to start its 4G services by the next year, said a senior official of Department of Telecommunication (DoT).

The reason for the delay, the official said, is the equipment procurement process as the telecom service provider is only procuring indigenous devices for the 4G services.

"BSNL will be able to begin its 4G service by next year as the telco is yet to complete its equipment procurement process," said the official.

"Also, BSNL will be using only indigenous equipment to upgrade its service to 4G, this is also one of the reasons for the delay," he added.

While the private telecom operators are on the verge of launching 5G service in the country, BSNL is still struggling to upgrade its services to 4G. However, the government is trying everything to revive the near-defunct telecom company. It recently infused ₹1.64 lakh crore relief package to save the telco.

After announcing the package, telecom minister Ashwani Vaishnaw gave BSNL a target to double the mobile subscriber base to 200 million via both 4G and 5G services. He also said the 5G rollout will happen parallel with the 4G rollout once the Centre for Development of Telematics (C-Dot) is ready with the 5G technology. The state-owned telco has suffered a loss of ₹50,631 crore in the past five years. It continued to lose its subscriber base and according to the information provided by the minister of state for communication Devusingh Chauhan, BSNL has lost nearly 2 crore subscribers in the past five years. As per the latest telecom regulator data, BSNL and MTNL together have a market share of only 10% in the wireless segment. In May 2022, the PSU lost nearly 5 lakh wireless customers.

CIL has not raised coal prices in last 4 years: Chairman

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

COAL India (CIL) Chairman Pramod Agrawal on Tuesday said Coal India has not raised prices of coal in the last four years to ensure its supply at competitive prices to consumers compared to the international market.

While addressing shareholders at the company's 48th AGM, the Chairman said the miner is committed to increasing its production and supplies to the mandated levels to ensure that the country gets power at a just price. "At a time when international coal prices are much higher, Coal India continues to supply its coal to Indian consumers at highly competitive prices, with no price increase over the last four years," said Agrawal in his address.

He also said CIL is trying to list subsidiaries Bharat Coking Coal Ltd (BCCL) and Central Mine Planning and Design Institute (CMPDI) but asserted that there was no question of demerging them. The company has a total of eight subsidiaries. Coal India meets 80% of the country's dry fuel requirement. CIL added that in the prevailing circumstances, bringing all stakeholders on board (for price hike) is difficult. "Prices of diesel and explosives have gone up and the wage negotiations are also underway," he added. On the plans to list BCCL and CMPDI, he said, "There was no question of demerging them. A part of their shares may get listed but we are working on that... all the approvals are being obtained."

'India can achieve $10K per capita income by '47'

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA can become a middle-income country and reach a per capita income of $10,000 or $20 trillion economy by 2047 if it manages to achieve a sustained growth rate of 7-7.5%, said Bibek Debroy, Chairman to the Economic Advisory Council (EAC) - Prime Minister, on Tuesday.

India currently has per capita income of $2,000 and is categorised as a lower middle-income country. For India to become a middle-income country today, it should have a per capita income of $6,100.

Debroy admitted that inequality in income widens when there is a fast economic growth and said that the government has been trying to plug the gaps when it comes to inequity in accessing education, health etc.

Debroy was speaking at an event to release a report -- Competitiveness Roadmap for India@100 -- which has been drafted in a collaborative endeavour between EAC and PM, The Institute for Competitiveness (IFC) and Professor Michael E. Porter and Dr Christian Ketels from Harvard Business School.

India can become a middle-income country and eventually a high-income country by overcoming three challenges - shared prosperity, job creation and policy implementation, as per the report "India@100 report by Institute for Competitiveness (IFC).

Despite the rise in gross domestic product (GDP) growth rate, income inequality in India has been rising dramatically. Large part of the country remains unconnected to the modern Indian and global economy, the report said. "Roughly 20% of its population is below the poverty line.. this is a large improvement as compared to the more than 45% at the beginning of the reforms in the early 1990s," the report stated. However, the country continues to suffer from a high incidence of malnourishment, especially among children. 35% of Indian children under 5 years are subject to stunting, which is a relatively higher number when compared with peer group countries.

Meanwhile, since 2000, inequality in terms of wealth and income has become more pronounced in urban areas in spite of the fall in poverty level. This is in sharp contrast with global dynamics and other emerging economies.

Zomato's inter-city service promises to deliver popular dishes from across cities

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

NOW, you can relish iconic dishes such as baked roshogollas from Kolkata, biryani from Hyderabad or mouth-watering Mysore Pak from Bengaluru sitting at home anywhere in India.

Online food delivery giant Zomato has launched inter-city Legends where you can order popular dishes from cities across India.

To begin with, this will be launched for select customers in Gurugram and South Delhi and Zomato is planning to scale this rapidly to other cities soon. In a blog post, Deepinder Goyal, Zomato founder and CEO, said, "We put together some of the best problem solvers and product builders at Zomato to find a way to bring popular dishes from cities across India to your doorstep." "These culinary jewels are known to be the gastronomical must-haves of their cities. So much so that your visit to that city is incomplete without tasting them, " he added. So, how these dishes reach you? Once you order dishes through Intercity Legends on the Zomato app, they will be delivered the next day. "Food is freshly prepared by the restaurant and packed in reusable and tamper-proof containers to keep it safe during air transit. Mobile refrigeration technology preserves the food without the need to freeze it or add any kind of preservatives," Goyal said.

Inter-city food delivery

Service will be launched for select customers in Gurugram, South Delhi and Zomato will scale this to other cities soon. Though It has not mentioned cost involved in this, it is expected that customers have to pay more

Once you receive your order, you can microwave, air-fry or pan-fry the food. Though Zomato did not mention the cost involved in this, it is expected that customers have to pay more since it involves shipping cost. Zomato is quite known for launching new initiatives. Recently, Zomato's grocery delivery service Blinkit said it will offer printing services. "We at Blinkit are giving printouts in minutes in a few areas now," said Jitesh Goel, Product Manager at Blinkit. Goyal also said there are no plans to rebrand Zomato app to Eternal. "Eternal remains an internal identity – it is currently only a notion to bind all our different businesses and leaders under a common name and a mission, and there is NO plan whatsoever to rebrand the Zomato app to Eternal," he said.

Sharath opts out of World Championships

India's triple gold medallist at the recent Commonwealth Games, Sharath Kamal, has opted out of the World Table Tennis Championships in China, citing personal reasons. The event will be played in Chengdu from September 30 to October 9. G Sathiyan will spearhead India's challenge in the men's section while Manika Batra will lead the women's team.

The Jadeja experiment

Despite the numbers, India try the southpaw as match-up against spin to figure team combinations in the shortest format

GOMESH S @Chennai

FIRST things first. Over the last few years, Ravindra Jadeja, the white-ball batter, has grown leaps and bounds. Since the start of 2019, he averages 42.27 in ODIs and 48.71 in T20Is (SR 140.32) At the same time, his bowling in limited-overs hasn't been the same. While an average of 57.85 since January 2019 does pose questions over his role in ODIs, in T20Is he is a decent operator (avg 23.94, 6.79 economy).

Which shifts the focus to his role in the T20I side. A batting all-rounder who saves 10-15 runs on the field at will? Sure. But Dinesh Karthik returning to the side has raised the significance of Jadeja's role. Up until the Asia Cup, he had little role to play with the bat on a day where all went well. With Suryakumar Yadav, Rishabh Pant and Hardik Pandya forming the middle-order, Jadeja was often batting at No 7/8.

That said, if Rohit Sharma, Virat Kohli and KL Rahul are the top three, India might not be able to play Karthik and Pant. Which means, Jadeja is the only southpaw in the top seven and has to be used as a floater to counter match-ups. That is exactly what happened on Sunday against Pakistan. With a left-arm spinner and a leg-spinner to counter, Jadeja was promoted to No 4 and he scored a 29-ball 35, playing a vital role in helping India end on the right side of the result in the last-over finish.

The interesting thing, however, is the fact that the all-rounder has been asked to do a role that is not his strong suit. Since 2019, he has batted at a SR of 87.86 against spin in T20s (off-spin 60.86, leg spin 74.54, left-arm spin 138.23) and 159.04 against pace. To put into context, Pant has batted at a SR 125.33 versus spin (100+ SR against all three types).

And the partnership between Jadeja and Suryakumar indicated the same where both were struggling to regain momentum. But, in the end, Jadeja finished with 16 runs off 13 balls against the spinners. It wasn't exactly the kind of domination one would expect from a match-up but given the target they had, it worked well for India on Sunday. t is no secret that India have been experimenting. However, it would be interesting to see how the Jadeja move would work when they are batting first or chasing a big total. When asked if the trend would continue, Jadeja said on Tuesday that it would be the team management's call based on each team's bowling attack. In the lead up to the World Cup, time will tell if Jadeja is able to pull it off or India find a way to fit Pant in.

Afghanistan thrash B'desh

Sharjah: Afghanistan spinners Mujeeb Ur Rahman & Rashid Khan ran through Bangladesh batting to restrict them to 127/7 in the Asia Cup on Tuesday. In reply, Najibullah Zadran and Ibrahim Zadran helped them chase the total. Brief scores: Bangladesh 127/7 in 20 ovs (Hossain 48 n.o, Mujeeb 3/16, Rashid 3/22) lost to Afghanistan 131/3 in 18.3 ovs (Najibullah 43 n.o, Ibrahim 42 n.o).

EYES ON TOP THREE| It's fair to that India's top three didn't fire against Pakistan. Especially for KL Rahul, coming off an injury, this will be an opportunity to spend some time in the middle. For Virat Kohli, someone who hadn't practiced for close to 50 days, this is another opportunity to get back in some shape with some runs under his belt ahead of the World Cup.

HAYAT, NIZAKAT IN FOCUS| If Hong Kong are to put up a competitive performance, you suspect their two mainstays in the batting department, skipper Nizakat Khan and the seasoned Babar Hayat, have to be pretty much at their best. Both of them of course played India at the 2018 Asia Cup with Nizakat scoring 92.

David vs Goliath

After a somewhat nervy win over Pakistan, India can rubber-stump their entry into the Super 4 stage with a win over Hong Kong on Wednesday. A look...

Kaur & Co look to ace role play before T20 World Cup

GOMESH S @Chennai

SHORTLY after taking up full-time captaincy across formats, Harmanpreet Kaur spoke about how players will have to do a specified role, which is different from what they do for their respective teams in domestic cricket. The question at that point was the fact that the 15-member squad they had picked for the Sri Lanka tour had as many as six top-order batters.

Smriti Mandhana, Shafali Verma, Yastika Bhatia, Jemimah Rodrigues, Deepti Sharma and Sabbineni Meghana all opened the batting in the senior T20 league that happened in April. For India, however, apart from the first two, others were spread out from No. 3 to No. 7.

For the Commonwealth Games, the trend continued with them carrying as many as nine players, who open the batting in domestic cricket. While some of them did prosper, like Jemimah in Sri Lanka or Deepti at the CWG, at some point, it did come back to bite them. When batters, who tend to take time before accelerating, didn't click, it cost them runs in the death overs. In the gold medal match, India lost from a position where they needed 17 runs from 12 balls with four wickets in hand.

"We keep making these mistakes (losing from a position of strength)," said a disheartened Harmanpreet after the match. While there were different emotions from different players while standing on the podium, the one who wasn't clearly pleased was the skipper. She confirmed as much in a press conference on Tuesday as they leave for England.

Naveen to compete in 70kg at World C'ships

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

NAVEEN was the only Commonwealth Games (CWG) medallist in men's freestyle who took part in the selection trials held at the SAI centre in Sonepat, Haryana on Tuesday. The trials were organised to pick up the Indian team for the upcoming World Championships.

He had won 74kg gold in Birmingham. However, the Haryana wrestler decided to change his weight category and compete in 70kg trials to increase his chance of winning a medal at the Worlds.

India had won four gold and two bronze in freestyle wrestling at the CWG. The other gold medallists — Ravi Dahiya (57kg), Bajrang Punia (65kg) and Deepak Punia (86kg) — were given an exemption and allotted a berth each in the team while the two bronze medallists Deepak Nehra (97kg) and Mohit Grewal (125kg) skipped the trials. "The 74kg weight category at the Worlds is loaded with renowned wrestlers making it one of the most competitive divisions. For Naveen, 70kg is the best category at this stage of his career as his weight suits the division more. Naveen defeated Vishal Kaliraman in the final of the trials to book his Worlds ticket. Selection trials were also held in the Greco-Roman style with most of the favourites making it to the team. The World Championships is scheduled in Belgrade, Serbia from September 10.

After proclaiming PGA as golf's 'pinnacle, Lahiri joins LIV Tour

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

INDIA's highest-ranked golfer, Anirban Lahiri, has signed on to play in the controversial Saudi-backed LIV Golf. Lahiri, ranked 92nd in the world, will play his first tournament at an Invitational in Boston this week. A press release from the organisation announced Lahiri's decision to join the new tour.

"Lahiri, a two-time Olympian for India, has amassed 18 wins and an additional 55 top-10 finishes throughout his professional career. Runner-up at the 2022 Players Championship to winner Cameron Smith, he has twice represented the International Team at the Presidents Cup (2015, 2017)," it read. Apart from Lahiri, five other golfers — Cameron Smith, Joaquin Niemann, Harold Varner III, Marc Leishman and Cameron Tringale — also joined the tour from this week.

Lahiri, the only Indian to have a full-time card on the PGA tour, will become the second from the country to feature in the rebel tour (Viraj Madappa had played in the inaugural event). With Lahiri's decision to turn out for the rebel tour, it's likely that the PGA wll rule him ineligible to take part in their events going forward — multiple golfers including the likes of Phil Mickelson have been ruled ineligible from taking part in PGA events (there is an antitrust lawsuit between a few of the players who signed on for LIV and the PGA). What's interesting about the announcement apropos Lahiri is that only last month he claimed that the PGA tour was the sport's 'pinnacle'. "The PGA Tour is always going to be the pinnacle of professional golf," he had said.

DAY'S DIARY

Removing citizenship

On this day in 2019, India removed citizenship status from 1.9 million people in state of Assam. The list was updated after 68 years

THE LIST

A total of 19,06,657 applicants, of the 32.9 million who had applied to be included in the list that identifies Indian citizens and weeds out illegal immigrants, failed to make the final cut

THE HISTORY

Assam is the only state in India to have a citizenship register. It was created in 1951 to distinguish Indian citizens from undocumented migrants

UPDATES SINCE THEN

The rejection slips, however, are yet to be issued to those excluded so that they can move to the Foreigners' Tribunals to challenge the decision

FUN, FOOD & FESTIVITIES

Celebrities in the city share how they are looking forward to celebrating Ganesh Chaturthi in unique ways this year

MEGHNA GAONKAR, actor

I don't celebrate the festival very grandly. I made my own eco-friendly Ganesha this year. I'm just going to have an intimate celebration, probably cook for my family and keep it simple. I come from Gulbarga and this festival is celebrated with a lot of pomp there. They put up a stage and organise dance performances and dramas. I always used to pester my parents to allow me to go and perform on the stage over there. This is when I was five or six years old. This occasion for me was mainly about that. I remember winning a prize and feeling like a star, and that's when I realised that I wanted to be a professional actor.

SURAJ GOWDA, actor

So every year for Ganesh Chaturthi, we have a family get together. I make sure to travel back to my hometown, Mysuru, which is where I am presently. We celebrate the festival in a huge way. Back in my childhood, we used to have this Ganesha collection. All the boys on our road used to go to the neighbouring houses in the area and get donations. With those donations, we used to buy a Ganesha. In my school days, we used to do this every year and it became almost like a ritual for us. We also organised our own music concerts and plays, and everyone was invited. We used to play the role of the pujaris and do what they're supposed to do. This used to happen on every road and there was also a competition about who had the biggest Ganesha.

MD PALLAVI, singer, actor

I have many concerts, so I'll be performing a lot around Karnataka, including Bengaluru. I come from a family of performers and artistes. So for us, any kind of celebration means to perform, do a concert or do a play. Even during childhood, my most vivid memories of this festival have been going and watching the various concerts that are held on Ganesh Chaturthi.

MILANA NAGARAJ, actor

Actually this year, Krishna and I are going on a small vacation to Madikeri for a much-needed break. So this time during Ganesh Chaturthi, we're not at home. But we have always celebrated this festival, this is the first time we thought of going for a trip instead. From my childhood to now, I could always tell how big this festival is. Whichever street you go to, you'll find a Ganesha pandal there. After Covid struck, the buzz had naturally decreased but I noticed the excitement for the occasion was back to normal this year.

SAGAR PURANIK, director, actor

This is the first festival we'll have post my wedding and my winning the national award, so it's going to be a big event for us. The entire family will get together to celebrate. Before we used to burst firecrackers as well, but we've stopped doing that for around a decade now due to the damage it does to the environment. I also plan on doing a small puja as I'll start working on my next project soon. I come from a place called Dharwad and there Ganesh Chaturthi is celebrated as grandly as Mumbai. Whenever I get the opportunity, I try to go back there during this festival.

SAMYUKTHA HORNAD, actor

Keeping up with the tradition of the past few years, I make my own Ganesha. For me, the most exciting part about this festival has always been to make the idol using eco-friendly products like clay or turmeric. Since my childhood, I remember Ganesh Chaturthi as the day all of our family members come together. There's always so much chaos with multiple people in one kitchen, eating and laughing together, and spending the day together without thinking about work.

'Recycling and reusing' is the mantra this Ganesha festival, with many redesigning old sarees into langas

FESTIVALS are about rituals as much as they are about food and fashion. The wait to wear new clothes and the general buzz around festivals is all part of the last-minute prep work.

While a few things have not changed over the years, what's new is the changing perspective on festive attire. Redesigned clothes are now the go-to designs for Bengalureans. This Ganesh Chaturthi, many are going for traditional designs like the South Indian half saree and the traditional langa-blouse.

Celebrity fashion designer Reshma Kunhi received over 100 orders for the half saree this festive season. "The South Indian langa, especially light-weight ones, is in fashion right now. It is a very traditional festival and people like to keep it that way. For Deepavali, people like to experiment but for Ganesha habba, they stick to the basics. They are going back to the roots as they say," says Kunhi.

While old sarees are making a comeback, people are coming up with new designs and styles to wear them. "Nowadays, we see people converting old sarees into other designs. They get bored wearing the saree in the same style. It's with Kanjeevarams that this is done," says fashion designer Bharghavi, who also finds that women are opting for trendy blouses to contrast them with age-old sarees. "It just breathes a sudden newness into the saree," she says.

For Bharatanatyam dancer Poornima Sankar Kaushik, it's not always about buying new clothes, it's sometimes bout going back to the ones in the wardrobe that have stayed untouched. "We usually wait for Dasara for the big shopping. Since Ganesha festival is closer to Dasara, we celebrate it in a smaller way. This gives us an opportunity to use the older sarees from mum's or grandmother's wardrobe," says Kaushik.

CONJOINING CULTURES WITH CINEMA

The fourth rendition of the Bengaluru Bengali Kannada Film Festival is back after a two-year hiatus and is all about bringing multiple cultures together via the cinematic medium

TUNIR BISWAS

AMERICAN filmmaker David Lynch is often remembered for his statement on cinema being a language. "It can say things — big, abstract things. And I love that about it." The Satyajit Ray Film Society Bengaluru (SRFSB) in association with the Kannada Film society is bringing the fourth rendition of the Bengaluru Bengali Kannada Film Festival (BBKFF) to all of you. The festival will be held from September 2 to 4 at the Inox Lido Mall in Ulsoor.

This year's festival will have a mix of Bengali and Kannada films, and as Lynch had said, the only language expressed will be the language of cinema. The festival started in 2017 as an effort to culturally integrate the Bengali population in this city with the Kannadigas. "At present, 13 lakh Bengalis live in Bengaluru. Our primary motivation has always been to bring the two communities together. Every Bong should know Kannada and vice-versa. We felt cinema would be the best medium to familiarise such different communities with each other," says Madhushree Sengupta, the festival director. Since 2017, the festival has showcased films in various languages, including Bengali, Kannada, Hindi, Telugu, Odia and Malayalam.

Sengupta believes one of the primary goals of the BBKFF is to promote cinema culture. "One thing that has always interested me is how to read a film. Because once we achieve that, once we understand cinema well, only then can we judge a film to be good or bad. This is why after our screenings, there are going to be interactive sessions where the audience can talk to the cast and crew of the film," shares Sengupta.

MS Sathyu, Girish Kasaravalli and Gautam Ghose will be the chief guests at this year's festival. The inaugural film will be Somoyer Smritimala, Ghose's short film. "All the films showcased are relatively new and aren't available on OTT platforms. These films were never released in Bengaluru either. So, this festival is a convenient place to catch all these movies," says Sengupta.

All That Breathes, Shaunak Sen's film that won the Golden Eye award at this year's Cannes Film Festival for the best documentary, will also be screened at the event. All the films will be subtitled.

BBKFF couldn't be organised in 2020 and 2021 due to Covid but now it's back after two years of absence. Sengupta feels getting to organise this festival after the two pandemic-ridden years posed additional challenges. "Our biggest challenge has always been to promote this festival to enough people. Every time someone hears about BBKFF, they get interested but that initial step of promoting to a large audience has always been a thorn in our path. We organise this event based on sponsorships but it has been tough to get funds lately," says Sengupta.

The Bengaluru Bengali Kannada Film Festival is not ticketed but instead runs on a delegation system. You can visit their website (srfsb.co.in) and get your delegation pass for any of the three days (Sept. 2,3 and 4). You will get to watch eight films and attend all interactive sessions of that particular day with the pass.

- Keeping the feet straight with toes pointing towards the ceiling, heels close to the floor, lengthen the hamstrings to stay here for about 2-3 breaths.
- Stretching the lower body, inhale, gently bend the left leg at the knee and bring the left foot close to the inside of the right thigh while the right leg is still stretched out in front of you.
- Resting the left knee on the floor, place the soles of the left foot close to the perineal, resting the outer ankle on the floor.
- Keeping your back straight, torso lifted, and chest broad, inhale and stretch your arms in front at shoulder level and as you exhale, twist and turn the upper body to the left to place the left hand behind you as close as possible.
- Simultaneously rest your right hand on your left knee. Chin is aligned to the chest, gazing at a point on the side. Breathe deep, pushing your heels down, toes in; with every exhale raise the spine and twist.
- Stay here for about 5 breaths, and with an inhale, twist and turn the upper body to come back to the centre, release the left leg and relax for a while in Dandasana.
- Take a few deep breaths here and counter the stretch on the other side (right) following the above instructions.

'I WROTE THE FIRST FOUR CHAPTERS OVER 22 YEARS AGO'

Veteran actor-author-poet Deepti Naval, who was in the city recently, speaks to CE about her latest book, A Country Called Childhood, her writing routine and juggling multiple roles

MONIKA MONALISA

ONE of the many reasons why A Country Called Childhood by actor Deepti Naval, a memoir published by Aleph Publication, was loved by bibliophiles was because it created a window for readers to peek into the initial 16 years of the actor's life. It is intriguing. Being not just a veteran actor, but an author too with four published books, she was sure of what would go into the book.

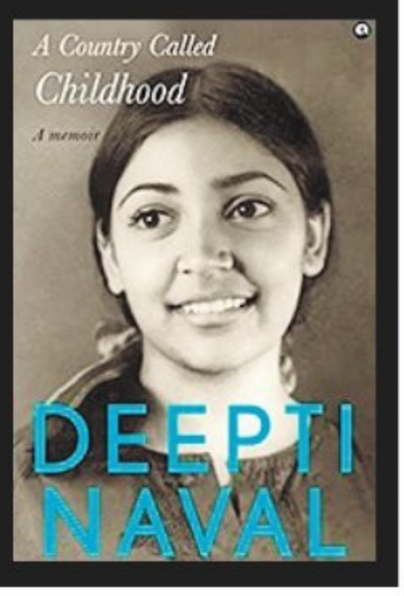
In the city for the 6th edition of the Bengaluru Poetry Festival, Naval mostly discussed her book of poems, Black Wind and the other Poems. The poems constitute a direct voice speaking of suffering, madness and pain for which she spent time in a mental asylum to understand the sensitivities of the inmates better. "I was observing myself being drawn in, getting too involved and realised that I have to do my work. I stepped back, looking at it as something that I have experienced. I would like to carry this experience and use it in my work than get so carried away that I lose my perspective," says Naval.

However, her latest book was also in focus since it was personal. "With Amritsar being a border town having its own history and a very palpable place just across the border, I grew up listening to stories about Lahore. That plays a big part in the dramatic element of my upbringing. This displacement has played a huge part in my family's life. My parents were displaced, and my nana-nani were moved from Burma to India. The exodus of Indians from Burma, the Japanese war... I grew up listening to these stories. Nobody ever narrated the Ramayana or the Mahabharata to me as a child, I only heard stories about Burma and those were the mythological stories for me," says Naval, who wrote the first four chapters over 22 years ago.

She credits who she is today to her parents. "I was born a Hindu, brought up in an Arya Samaj home, went to a Catholic school, and my home was right next to a mosque. So I could hear the namaz all the time. And mama was very fond of going to the temple to listen to shabad (prayer). As a family we were very accepting of all religions. We were brought up with an open attitude towards religion," she recalls fondly, adding that the seed of this memoir was planted in New York.

Long before she became a profound writer, she entertained audiences on the big screen, sometimes being Ms Chamko (Chashme Buddoor, 1981) or anything else you can pick from her filmography. Not being a trained actor, she was somehow sure of taking up acting as a career. "Acting came naturally to me. It was my personal belief that I could do it. I had to interpret life on the big screen," she says.

Juggling multiple roles, Naval takes some time off for herself. It could just be taking an early morning walk on the beach near her Mumbai home in Juhu or reading books she enjoys. "I have not finished Murakami's books and am enjoying it. Before that, I was reading Ben Okri's works. I am a little slow as a reader so I go easy with the books. I don't get to read as much as the other writers do. That's also because my time is split with my other interests," says Naval, who prefers writing early in the morning.



URBAN BOURBON

The baby lizard in my bathroom

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

HUMANS are selective in our love for animals. We love cows, but whip oxen to death. We are fascinated by tigers, but repelled by crocodiles. We rue the absence of sparrows, but become PV Sindhus with mosquito-rackets in our hands. Dangerous hippopotamuses are considered cute, while snakes are beaten to death. Like Karan Johar, we simply like animals that are photogenic.

Steve Irwin spent years with them, but no crocodile tried to kill him. Instead, he was killed by a sting-ray, who made it to my bad books immediately. Snakes are doing quite well for themselves without legs or a spine. I admire crows for sharing whatever food is available – socialists in a capitalist world. The gentle buffalo gives India most of its milk, but doesn't take any credit. Lizards are quite underrated too. They are harmless, and like to stay away from humans. They are happy to eat insects that bug you, and bugs that…insect you (?). Chase a lizard, and it'll coolly drop its tail and scamper.

A few weeks ago, I noticed a baby lizard in my bathroom. Light brown in colour, with large googly eyes and a little pink tongue. I wondered where the irresponsible parents were. I searched behind doors, and on the ceiling. Tube lights are like Goa for lizards – they hang out and guzzle down insects attracted to the light. However, with modern LED lights, I found no insects or lizards in my room. The tiny thing was an orphan trying to make a home by himself (I assumed it was a boy because the toilet seat was never down!).

I am quite a scaredy-cat when it comes to driving out insects and animals. I have let pigeons stay in my balcony till it resembled the sets of Kabhi Khushi Kabhi Gham. My maid – a kind lady with a toothy grin – bailed when she heard the word balli. I resorted to Google, but was recommended natural ways to kill lizards, or sprays that'd 'terminate' the problem in minutes. I tried scaring it with a broom, but it simply sneaked into the crevice between the door. I called professional cleaners and gently requested them to remove any lizards. The gentleman cleaning the bathroom immediately froze upon hearing the word 'lizard'.

Finally, I decided to let the lizard be. I said hello every morning and often wondered what it ate. In movies, Amitabh Bachchan would grow up as an orphan by doing menial tasks like polishing boots. But my lizard-boy still hadn't found a dependable source of food. Google told me that a lizard takes about a year to fully grow, so I decided to share my bathroom with him. I also discovered that lizards can survive for up to two months without food. I let the lizard be, often looking for it when I went to use the bathroom.

A few days back, I found it lying still on my bathroom floor. I poured a few drops of water, wanting some privacy for my shower. To my surprise, it wasn't moving. I took out a broom and nudged it, but it lay still, like the T-Rex in Jurassic Park. I knew that the lizard was gone. With no parents or access to food, it was only a matter of time. When I go to my empty bathroom these days, I wonder if I could have fed the little guy something (apples, celery, and grapes, apparently).

Rest in peace, dear lizard. If reincarnation works for lizards, I hope you're reborn as a software engineer. You can work from home, watch animal videos, and order food from your phone. Rest in peace, and all the best for your next life!

Nanda Kishore to direct Mohanlal in a multilingual project

Mohanlal has confirmed the news, the project will go on floors in July 2023

CE FEATURES

KANNADA filmmaker Nanda Kishore is set to direct multiple National Award-winning actor Mohanlal in a multilingual film. An announcement about this was made by the veteran star himself on his social media accounts.

"I'm excited to have signed in for "Vrushabha," the first movie from AVS Studios, directed by Nanda Kishore and produced by Abhishek Vyas, Praveer Singh, and Shyam Sunder. This multilingual movie is filled with action and emotion, and I seek all your support and blessings," said

Nanda Kishore

Mohanlal in a tweet. Confirming this news on CE, Nanda says, "Yes, I will be helming a project for the Malayalam Superstar. It will be an out-and-out commercial entertainer. The actor will be seen in multi-dimensional characters."

Reportedly, the makers are also approaching a big star from the Telugu industry to be part of the lead cast. The shooting for the film will begin in July 2023, and more details will be revealed closer to the project going on the floors.

Meanwhile, Nanda Kishore is getting ready to release Raana, starring Shreyas Manju and Reeshma Nanaiah. He also has multiple projects in his kitty, and there are reports of him helming projects for Sudeep, and Nikhil Kumaraswamy. However, more details about these are awaited.

'I INTEND TO BE PART OF MEANINGFUL ROLES'

... says Kavaludaari heroine Roshni Prakash, who talks about her role in the upcoming film, Lucky Man, directed by Nagendra Prasad

A SHARADHAA

KAVALUDAARI brought Roshni Prakash into the limelight, and the actor, who wishes to do similarly meaningful roles, found herself one with Lucky Man. The Nagendra Prasad directorial, a remake of Tamil superhit Oh My Kadavule, will be out on September 9. "I had watched Oh My Kadavule much before I got the offer from team Lucky Man, and I liked the film. I had my eyes on the role played by Vani Bhojan in the original. I felt that character had a certain depth to it, and she had a separate track in the film, which is something we hardly find in cinemas today. Secondly, knowing the kind of cast who were part of the film became a plus point. I got to know that Puneeth Rajkumar was playing a pivotal role in Lucky Man, and I didn't think twice after that. Having worked for Kavaludaari made under his production house, I was quite excited to be working in a film that starred Powerstar. It was kind of a blessing to me," she says.

However, Roshni harbours a sense of regret about not having shared screenspace with the late actor. "We were told that there will be a special dance number featuring Puneeth, Prabhudeva, and us, but there was a last-minute change, and we couldn't be part of the song."

How is it for Roshni to be part of a remake, especially at a time, when multilingualism is in rage? "As an artiste, the character given is already running in my mind. This is like a textbook for me. I look at remake films as an opportunity to go the extra mile, and make the film, and my character better. As far as it is reaching more audiences, I will be happy to see more people being entertained," says the actor, who is looking to mark in Tamil and Telugu too.

"When Roshni Prakash does a film, I want people to come and watch it. That will happen only when I take up good roles. From my end, I am trying my best to be part of the characters, which make sense to me," says Roshni, who also has two Tamil films — Vekahi and Vyper — in different stages of production. "I also have a project signed with a big production company, which is likely to begin in October. I have shot for a web series, directed by Vamsi Krishna. This apart, I also have a Kannada film, Murphy, directed by Pradeep Varma, which might be out in December," reveals Roshni, who says that Kavaludaari has been the biggest boon to her and she will always be grateful to Hemanth M Rao and Puneeth. "That first experience helped me to understand the industry better. It gave me a standard to aim for. For every film I do, Kavaludaari is my yardstick. I am expanding my horizons with roles that value my career," she signs off.

Rajavardan

RAJAVARDAN'S HIRANYA FIRST LOOK OUT

CE FEATURES

RAJAVARDAN has wrapped shooting for Hiranya, and the makers have revealed the first look from the film on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturti. Prawin Avyukth's directorial is said to be an action entertainer.

The Bicchugatti actor, who will be seen as a romantic hero in Pranayam, has taken up a mass avatar in Hiranya. "I will be seen in a character, who is ruthless and has no emotions. The story is set in a backdrop of action and happens within 5 days. We have shot the film in a single schedule spanning 75 days," he says.

The film has five fights choreographed by stunt masters - Vinod, Tiger Shiva, and Arjun. Hiranya produced Vigneshwara U and Vijay Kumar BV under the banner, Vedas Infinite Pictures has Divya Suresh, and Rihana playing the female leads. The film has music by Judah Sandy and cinematography by Yogeshwaran.

Jennifer Connelly to feature in Apple's Dark Matter

CE FEATURES

JENNIFER Connelly is set to star alongside Joel Edgerton in Apple's upcoming series, Dark Matter.

Based on Blake Crouch's novel of the same name, the pilot of the series will be written by the author, who will serve as the showrunner of the project.

The nine-episode series features Edgerton as Jason Dessen, a physicist, professor, and family man who is abducted into an alternate version of his life. Connelly will feature as Dessen's wife, Daniela, in Dark Matter.

The plotline said, "Wonder quickly turns to nightmare when he tries to return to his reality amid the multiverse of lives he could have lived. In this labyrinth of mind-bending realities, he embarks on a harrowing journey to get back to his true family and save them from the most terrifying, unbeatable foe imaginable: himself."

Edgerton and Crouch will also serve as the executive producers of the project alongside Matt Tolmach and David Manpearl for Matt Tolmach Productions.

ENTER THE WORLD OF THE RINGS

JD Payne, the creator of the upcoming The Lord of The Rings prequel, The Rings of Power, talks about building a world based on the works of JRR Tolkien

NAVEIN DARSHAN

THE Lord of The Rings (LOTR) trilogy by Peter Jackson was undoubtedly a seminal work in world cinema. Apart from satisfying the fans of the book by JRR Tolkien, the film also went on to create its own legion of fans. Almost twenty years later, with The Rings of Power, Amazon Prime Video is set to take us on a journey back to the world of LOTR, albeit a few thousands of years before the happenings of the original franchise.

JD Payne

JD Payne, who has created the show along with his long-time associate Patrick McKay, calls themselves the biggest fans of Tolkien. "These aren't just stories to us. They are integrated with our hearts and souls so much that when my father passed away I referred to Tolkien in his eulogy, and I wrote my son's birth announcement in Elvish." While The Rings of Power is definitely a passion project for Payne and McKay, it is undoubtedly a pressure project too for the duo. However, Payne adds that the pressure surrounding the series was mostly internal. "Since we are huge fans of Tolkien, we pushed ourselves to the maximum to get everything right. For starters, we began our writing sessions every day by reading one of Tolkien's quotes, and kept going back to the thousands of pages he has written about middle earth."

Unlike the Peter Jackson series, which was a direct adaptation of The Lord of The Rings book, Rings of Power didn't have a solid source material. They only had an abstract idea of the Second Age, and its characters. Though Tolkien had written a lot about the period, the creators had to develop the characters and story arcs to form a singular, engaging narrative. Payne shares that they were so into the world of Tolkien that after a point, they started thinking like him. "Our biggest pointer while writing Rings of Power was 'Would Tolkien do it?'. It was quite a task to compress 1000s of years of a story into one script. We always ran our ideas through Tolkien Estate, Tolkien's grandson Simon Tolkien, and a couple of world-renowned Tolkienian scholars to ensure that we were on the right track."

While the allegiance to Tolkien and his world is clear, one can't help but wonder if it would similarly appeal to outsiders of the Tolkienian world. "Absolutely, it will work. While the super-fans will get excited on seeing the minute details we have included in every frame, the ones who have no clue about The Lord of The Rings or Tolkien will still have an interesting tale of emotions to be invested in."

Interestingly, the makers reportedly had a private screening with ardent fans of Tolkien to check if The Rings of Power met their expectations, and the previews turned out to be a major success. "The audience will be getting to see the visuals of worlds like Númenor for the first time and we had to build not just one but six worlds, just for the first season. Our team had to customise everything on the frame, even the simplest things like a leaf to match the visual the fans of the book have in their mind. It was quite an exciting challenge."

Payne feels that there couldn't have been a better time to make The Rings of Power. . "Our project wouldn't have been possible 10 or 15 years back. Making The Rings of Power as a web series helps us get the best of both worlds. Now we have the production value of a blockbuster film, and the space to explore long-format storytelling. Tolkien's tales require both these elements to satisfy the audience." He adds that the viewers will be more invested with the characters when they spend long hours with them. "I am positive that everyone will start rooting for the lead characters as they will be spending close to 50 hours with them."

Choosing to go with a fantasy period setting is an impressive choice for creators of fiction, who might generally be tempted to write characters and plotlines set in a contemporary world. However, Payne feels the opposite. "Tolkien didn't want to build anything allegorical. He didn't want people to compare the characters with politicians or kingdoms of a particular society. He felt it limits his creation. We also wanted our creation to be timeless and applicable to everyone. The core of Tolkien's stories is the battle between good and evil, and the corrupting nature of power. These themes will continue to resonate across generations."

Incidentally, Payne equates taking up the responsibility of The Rings of Power to marriage as a significant part of his life will be dedicated to this series. He explains that the desire to explore bigger horizons inspires him and McKay to keep running forward. "When we enter a fantasy world, our guard goes down, cynicism disappears and the fictional characters begin to inspire us. We live for such experiences. We often compare ourselves to Frodo Baggins, who was given responsibility beyond his experience and capabilities. And this gave us the fuel to make The Rings of Power."
